BELEAGUERED PARIS

The Gloomy Reality of Isolation—Delusive Hopes Dispelled—Dangers from the Radical Element—They Aspire to Control the Government—The City in Darkness.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A Paris letter, dated Sept. 20, says: "Opportunity was suddenly offered early this morning to make the last, perhaps fruitless, effort to communicate with the outside world through the medium of an adventurous Englishman, who has volunteered to carry a private mail, and attempt to get through the enemy's lines to Calais for the consideration of good pay. Notwithstanding the long anticipation of the investment and actual isolation of the capital, now that it really comes, it falls like an unexpected blow, and leaves the people stunned and stupified with a feeling akin to that which is experienced at the death of a dear friend whose long sickness compelled expectation of a fatal termination, but whose loss, when it actually comes, seems like a sudden and unforeseen calamity.

A DELUSION.

In fact, until the last moment the people persuaded themselves that some miraculous interposition would stay the progress of the German armies, unwilling to believe in the possibility of a siege. But grim troops, with spiked helmets, pressed steadily on in dark masses. Light clouds of flying cavalry surround the city, destroying the communications in every direction. The iron bonds grip closer and closer, till Paris scarcely breathes, even now. However, the hope that JULES FAVRE will succeed in winning terms of peace from BISMARCK animate many with a single ray of consolation amid the general gloom; but those well informed have little expectation of a settlement until Paris has experienced further horrors.

RADICAL DEMONSTRATIONS.

Unhappily the German statement that the Provisional Government cannot speak authoritatively, receives confirmation. The action of the extreme Republicans, (even in this hour of trial when unity is indispensable,) on Saturday and Sunday, was disgraceful. There were demonstrations in several portions of the city, in consequence of the announcement of the demands of the Reds for the creation of committees of defense in the different arrondiements to be chosen by the people, and for a general collection and division of food and ammunition. Noisy and dangerous crowds assembled in different quarters, uttering revolting cries. A large number of the roughs were armed. In some cases violence was committed; in one instance a store-house was broken open and a quantity of provisions seized, under pretense of authority from the Committee of Defense. On Sunday night much terror prevailed among the better class of the population. On Monday a large force of the National Guard and some regulars and marines from the forts marched into the city to preserve order. There is little doubt that an attempt will be made before long by the extreme party to seize and control the Government. It is difficult to say where the end will be.

FLAGGING COURAGE AT THE LAST MOMENT.

The last hours for leaving the city were marked by the rush of hundreds whose courage gave way at the latest moment. Hundreds of applications were made to Minister WASHBURNE for passports by Frenchmen who were never outside of France, and who pretended to be naturalized Americans, but were unable to produce their papers.

RESOURCES OF THE GARRISON.

Beyond a doubt Paris is provisioned for four months. An appeal has been issued by the authorities, begging the citizens to exercise the greatest care and frugality in the use of provisions from the present moment. TROCHU is working indefatigably. Yesterday he was confined from indisposition.

GLOOM AND DARKNESS.

Heaven knows when an opportunity will offer to communicate again. For the past two nights the city has been in almost total darkness. The citizens are adopting measures to light the street lamps.

A NEW DANGER.

Another Aspirant for the Control of Paris—Address of the Working Men's Association—Electoral Organization of the New Power—An Independent Government at Lyons.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—It is impossible to separate now the political from the military question, for, understanding one, you must understand the other. There are two different powers in Paris. One official—the Provisional Government—which satisfies nobody, but is accepted and tolerated by everybody.

THE SECOND POWER.

The second one is the Central Republican Committee, composed of four delegates from each arrondissement, or eighty delegates in all. These four delegates are selected from twenty-five delegates elected by the people in every arrondissement. They are in constant communication with the population during the day through the twenty-one delegates remaining in the arrondissements, and at night by the public meetings. A Special Committee of five remain in permanency day and night. At the sitting of the Assembly these eighty delegates constitute the commune of Paris. The International Association of Working Men has been the cradle of that powerful organization which is objectionable to the bourgeois and a source of fear to the Government, but has the deepest root in the hearts of the people.

ITS DEMANDS.

They sent yesterday a message to the Government, asking for immediate measures, first, to transfer the Police from the Central Government to the municipalities; the election of the magistracy; the abrogation of every law or decree interfering with the absolute freedom of speech, press, meeting or association; second, the appropriation of the necessaries of life wherever to be found, and their distribution among the families of the National Guards and those in need, proportionally to the amount of provisions, the probable duration of the siege, and the numbers of persons to be fed. Third, the immediate appropriation of all the empty apartments or public buildings, for the accommodation of the defenders of the city. Fourth, a levy en masse, of all Frenchmen, without exception. Fifth, the immediate dispatch of General Commissioners to the Departments to raise the population and send them to the defense of Paris.

REPLY OF THE GOVERNMENT.

The Government refused, yesterday, to yield to these demands. Today a delegation of 120 members, comprising the eighty members of the Central Committee and two special delegates from each arrondissement, will again present them, and if the Government persists in its refusal, the people themselves will come peacefully, but en masse, to-night.

AN INDEPENDENT GOVERNMENT AT LYONS.

At Lyons the working men have constituted an independent government for the defense of France. As I am going there, I will be able to tell you more in a couple of days. The first success of the Prussians will overthrow the Provisional, as Sedan overthrew the Imperial Government. Then the people will certainly take a better care of themselves than their traditional masters have.

Last night there was an alarm. The Corps of VINOY crossed Paris, en route for Charenton and Joinville le Pont, where some Prussians had appeared. All is quiet this morning. It is impossible to see yet if the enemy means an immediate attack.

THE EFFORTS TOWARD PEACE

England and the Provisional Government—Peace Contingent on Events About Paris—Prussian Designs—Negotiations Progressing Hopefully.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The report which emanated from Tours that M. THIERS had obtained from England the recognition of the Provisional Government, is not believed here. England will wait to see what the Constituent Assembly decides before she will act.

The belief here is that no negotiations for peace will be likely to succeed until the military events before Paris take a decisive turn. R.

PRUSSIAN DESIGNS IN NEGOTIATING.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—It is generally believed here that the Prussians are negotiating with France solely for the sake of delay, so as to secure the possession of Paris.

HOPEFUL PROGRESS.

The Standard this morning says: "The negotiations at Meaux are proceeding hopefully. The general principles have already been arranged by Count VON BISMARCK and JULES FAVRE, and the details are now under discussion."

Another journal reports that thus far the only question which has been discussed is as to who can ratify on the French side.

OPERATIONS ABOUT PARIS.

Isolation of the Capital Complete—The Government Not to be Bound by the Action of Paris—The Battles Already Fought—Capture of Prussians at Versailles.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Communications between Paris and Tours have been cut, and the members of the Provisional Government are as effectually separated from the capital as Lyons and Paris.

The Government is in political accord with the great cities of France, and will refuse to be bound by the action of the capital, if it should capitulate. R.

RECENT ENCOUNTERS.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—During the investment of the city the following important engagements have occurred:

On Saturday, the 17th, a Prussian brigade routed several battalions of the French north of Brevannes forest. On the next day a sharp skirmish occurred near Vitry. On Monday the French were driven from their intrenchments at Retray, losing seven guns.

GEN. VINOY'S MOVEMENT.

Not trusting wholly to peace negotiations, yesterday, Gen. VINOY, with a force of 25,000, left Paris to intercept the onward march of the Prussians. The object was to cause as much loss and delay as possible to the enemy and then fall back on the forts.

PRUSSIAN REVERSES.

Near Versailles a body of 2,000 Garden Mobile captured a number of Prussians whose protection had been solicited by the inhabitants. Prussian defeats are obscurely reported as having occurred at Athis and Mons.

A STRAIT FOR CANNON.

The bronze statuary in Paris has been melted up to supply the besieged with cannon.

THE PRUSSIANS AT MANTES.

TOURS, Sept. 22.—The Prussian cavalry entered Mantes-sur-Seine, and made a requisition. They subsequently rejoined their corps, which was advancing in that direction. [Mantes is situated on the Seine about twenty-five miles east and north of Paris.]

The fighting near Paris continues with varying results. No important engagement has yet taken place.

THE BESIEGED CITIES.

Reported Abandonment of the Siege of Toul—Meta Provisioned—Operations at Strasbourg.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Telegrams in some of the London journals assert that the Prussians, having been repulsed in their last assault on Toul, have abandoned the siege, and are marching to join the army around Paris.

METZ.

TOURS, Sept. 22.—Letters from Metz, picked up at Fenetrange, reiterate the assurance that the place is well provisioned and the morale of the garrison excellent.

STRASBOURG.

MUNDELSHEIM, Sept. 21.—Rumors of the capture of Strasbourg are afloat in private circles, but lack official confirmation. A French account states that an assault was made on the breaches by the besiegers on the 16th, but was repulsed with great loss. There was fighting on the 17th and 18th, but it is believed to be in consequence of sorties made by the garrison and not an assault.

MUNDELSHEIM, Sept. 22.—The siege of Strasbourg is vigorously pushed. Lunette No. 53 was taken today by the Prussians with only trifling loss. Five guns were taken in the recent capture of Lunette No. 53.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Gen. Burnside en Route for Paris—Destitution of Lille—Specie Payments Suspended at Havre—Shipment of French Goods to Avoid Capture—The Clergy and National Defense.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Gen. BURNSIDE left this city for Paris this morning. He carries letters from Count BERNSTORFF, the Ambassador of the North German Confederation, to Count BISMARCK and to the Prussian and French commanders, with which he expects to get through the lines. This, however, is doubtful.

DEFENSE OF LILLE.

The armament of the fortifications of Lille is completed. Immense stores of munitions of war and provisions have been laid in.

Specie payments have been suspended by official notice in Havre. R.

TO ESCAPE CAPTURE.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 22.—Several cargoes of cotton and other goods have recently arrived here from Havre, whence they were shipped in order to prevent their falling into the hands of the Prussians. Vessels are still loading there for the same destination, and others have already sailed.

THE NATIONAL DEFENSE.

TOURS, Sept. 22—Evening.—There is a strong movement on the part of the clergy of France in favor of the national defense. The railway and postal service is is still extremely irregular.

A Naval Duel to be Fought in Japanese Waters—Movements of French Vessels—Revolt of Arabs in Algeria—Napoleon and the Senate—German Unity and Aggrandizement.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A dispatch from Bombay reports that the German corvette Medusa and the French corvette Duplex have made arrangements for a naval duel, to be fought in Japanese waters at an early day.

ELSINORE, Sept. 22.—A French squadron, consisting of one armored battery and four steam corvettes, coming from the south, passed here today. Other French vessels of war are signaled at Sprago.

REVOLT IN ALGERIA.

TOURS, Sept. 22.—A general revolt of the Arabs has occurred at Algeria. The Chasseurs d'Afrique have consequently been sent back from Marseilles.

THE EX-EMPEROR.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—It is announced on dubious authority that the Emperor NAPOLEON intends to issue a manifesto, and the French Senate is to meet at Limoges.

GERMANY AS AN EMPIRE.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A dispatch from Berlin repeats the news that a constitution is preparing for the security of German unity. Herr DELBRUCK is arranging the formalities for proclaiming FREDERICK Emperor of Germany.

ALSACE AND LORRAINE.

The German official gazette, a new journal published at Haguenau, in Bas Rhin, (Alsace,) refers, in its first number, to the proposed incorporation of Alsace and Lorraine with Germany. It says these provinces are already Teutonic in language, politics, manners and ideas. They will be only too happy to separate from infidel, socialistic France.

Lyons for Temporary Capital—Political Excesses—Espionage—Progress of the Prussians.

TOURS, Sept. 22.—It is rumored that Lyons will be made the temporary capital of France. The Provisional Government is determined to repress the excesses of the "Reds."

The Count DE LA GUERONNIERE, while returning from Constantinople, was arrested at Marseilles, but he was immediately released by order of the Government.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The private secretary of ETIENNE ARAGO, Mayor of Paris, has been arrested as a Prussian spy.

PRUSSIAN MOVEMENTS.

TOURS, Sept. 22.—The Prussians have cut the Orleans Railway, and now occupy several points along the line. The traffic on this road now stops at Blois. The Prussians menace Orleans.

THE REPORTED OCCUPATION OF THE CITY NOT CONFIRMED—MILITARY ACTIVITY.

There is great activity already among the troops here. Many are leaving with all possible haste. It is reported that the governmental delegates will also leave. Hundreds of persons have arrived here from Blois, who left there because of a fear that the Prussians would soon enter.

CITY WAR NEWS.

The German War Wound Collections.

A number of German ladies of Brooklyn are taking action to form a ladies' aid association, on the plan of the organization formed by the German ladies in this City, in aid of the German war fund. Their object is also to open a fair, and a meeting has been called, which will come off at the hall of the Germania Society, in Atlantic-street, to-morrow afternoon. The call has been signed by the following ladies: Mmes. T. Ariadne, F. Ashermann, Pastor Bank, L. Brandeis, Dr. Calmmerer, Ch. Garlichs, D. H. Graff, Chas. Greve, H. Haas, Ch. O. C. Mueller, O. Heinse, W. Kusrurf, O. Lang, E. Magnus, E. Ripke, Ad. Schmidt, Pastor Steimle, W. G. Tanks, F. Ulrichs.

The German Aid Society of the Tenth Ward of this City reports that $1,037 has been collected in this district, of which $700 has been transmitted to the Treasurer of the general fund. The delegates to the General Committee of the German patriotic aid societies have been instructed to oppose separate collections for specified localities in Germany. A committee, composed of Messrs. BIHEL, JOHN and MAX, has been charged to take action to extend the operations of the Society.

The German dramatic Society Concordia, at Carlstadt, a few days since, gave a concert in aid of the general fund, which yielded a surplus of $168, which yesterday was transmitted to the Consul-General in this City.

The Bremen Line of Steam-ships and the War.

A report was current yesterday that the agents of the Bremen line would dispatch the Hermann immediately for her destination. Upon inquiry it was ascertained that the agents in this City, Messrs. OELRICHS & Co., received a telegram on Wednesday directing that the Hermann be sent over, as the blockade of the German coast had been raised. The Messrs. OELRICHS, however, interpreted in reply that the French gunboat Le Fusée Voulte was still stationed in the harbor and cruising off the coast, and it was not deemed safe to send the Hermann to sea. The agents now await further advices from Bremen. The Hermann is almost ready for sea, having her cargo on board, and could be dispatched on a few hours' notice.

The French Subscription Committee.

The French Subscription Committee, at a meeting held last night at No. 31 West Houston-street, adopted an appeal to the French population in the United States for contributions of funds and materials in aid of the wounded defenders of France, and a sub-committee of three was appointed to take action to extend the operations of the Committee, and to receive contributions in aid of the national cause. The national subscription of funds is progressing favorably. M. FOUCHER, of North William-street, last night addressed a communication to the Committee, in which a check for $600 was inclosed; $100 having been donated before by the same contributor, who promises to contribute another $1,500 in certain contingencies. Another $1,000 donation was received from M. MILLET.

Reorganization of the Grand Lafayette.

An enthusiastic meeting of Frenchmen, former members of the old Garde Lafayette, was held last evening at the Harmonie Club-house, in Prince-street, with a view to reviving the old organization, inasmuch as the Fifty-fifth Regiment, which originally constituted the Garde Lafayette, has, with the exception of one company, become entirely German. Only Company A, of the Fifty-fifth Regiment, is partly composed of Frenchmen, who of late have had some trouble with the Germans. Hence the desire to create a pure French organization. The meeting was called to order by Col. LE GAL, the former commander of the old Garde, who, in a brief speech, full of patriotic allusions, explained matters as above. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Col. LE GAL; Secretary, M. REMMEDINGER; Treasurer, M. BARZON.

A Committee to prepare a constitution and by-laws was appointed, composed of Messrs. Lieut. F. DEBRAIS, BONCHAND, BUCHET, LABORY, ED. CLAUSS, Col. GOULAY, and CHALVIN. A Finance Committee was appointed, composed of Messrs. EMILE MARTAIN, CLEMENS, Jos. MEHING, and Dr. AIME. A Recruiting Committee was appointed, composed of Messrs. LE GAL, TERRIN, DREYFOUS, Dr. AIME, MAUERHOFFER, GARUS.

Meeting of Natives of Alsace.

The Alsatian residents in this City, last evening, held a meeting at No. 105 Centre-street, and formed a temporary organization in aid of the patriotic cause. Mr. FORTWENGLER was elected President, and Mr. HENRY OBFELVERS, Secretary. A subscription was opened to pay for a sword to be presented to the heroic commander of Strasbourg, Gen. ULRICH, and patriotic addresses were delivered.

THE STEAMER LAFAYETTE.

A French View of the Case—American Neutrality Laws Severely Criticised.

The Courrier des Etats Unis devoted its leading article, yesterday morning, to a review of the circumstances attendant on the departure of the Lafayette with guns and recruits for the French Army. Some of its remarks may not be without interest, although coming from a French source. After a résumé of the affair, the detention of the vessel, the shipment of 100,000 revolvers and 2,000,000 cartridges, the embarkation of the recruits, the speeches, general enthusiasm, &c., the Courrier goes on to say:

"But soon the scene changed. Two Deputy Marshals of the United States arrived, and exhibiting a paper of questionable legality, informed the Captain that he must disembark 120 men enlisted in the French Army, and constituting a military expedition against Germany, thus violating the Neutrality laws." The Courrier explains that the paper was not in the nature of a warrant, but intended simply to act as a means of detaining such passengers as might be suspected and then continues: "Imagine the dismay which fell upon the enthusiastically patriotic crowd like a wet blanket. Men exchanged looks, growled, swore a little, and then, since these efforts proved abortive, they submitted. Mr. McKENZIE, the agent of the Company, took the passenger list and called the roll; it was about as jolly a roll-call as would have been the reading of a roster of the condemned at the Concergerie. Eighty-six names were noted as not being paid for, and so they had to disembark. * * * * And now what is going to come out of this affair? There is unquestionably a question of right to be settled one way or the other. * * * What we wish to say is only that throughout the whole affair was managed in total informal, arbitrary and illegal way which is only well illustrated in this country. For instance, two subordinate agents of the Federal Police are charged with the execution of an irregular warrant, by which they go on board of a departing vessel and seek to recognize among three or four hundred passengers, those who are suspected, so as to allow them to send them ashore without even giving them time to secure their trunks. And pray, how are they to tell them? By what sign? The sole violation of international law is that eighty-six passengers have not paid their passage-money. * * * We do not clearly see how this outrage is to end, but we are sure of one thing, and that is, that if our countrymen had been less demonstrative and noisy, both before and during their embarkation, the thing would not have happened. Let us hope that they will be more careful next time."

The Shooting of Donohue—Singular Document from the Counsel of John J. Scannell.

The following address to the public has been sent to us for publication by the counsel of JOHN J. SCANNELL:

To the Public:

As the friend and counsel of JOHN J. SCANNELL, I feel it my duty to submit to you the following statement: At the time of the murder of FLORENCE SCANNELL, I employed by a brother, who, in truth, loved him with an affection I have seldom seen equaled, to take charge of the case on the part of FLORENCE and himself. DONOHUE had been shot in the arm at the time FLORENCE received the fatal shot which terminated his life, and JOHN was in prison, charged with this wounding of DONOHUE. You hearty bail JOHN was discharged. Subsequently JOHN met DONOHUE, called upon him to draw, knowing him to be armed, upon which DONOHUE fled, and soon after caused the arrest of JOHN, who gave bail to keep the peace. This is the only attack JOHN has made upon DONOHUE. Through the instrumentality of JOHN, DONOHUE was brought before a Coroner's jury charged with the murder of FLORENCE. JOHN concluded to appeal to the law. The jury upon the Coroner's inquest found that DONOHUE did shoot FLORENCE. DONOHUE was committed and bailed. Grief for his brother's death and his old widowed mother's agony has seriously affected JOHN J. SCANNELL, both physically and mentally; but those who know him well know that, although he might attempt to avenge his brother's murder, which he believes to have been perpetrated by DONOHUE, by violence, yet that he is the last man who would disguise himself, and in the darkness of night assassinate. JOHN J. SCANNELL did give DONOHUE fair warning before he appealed to the law. He would shoot no man upon any provocation, except face to face, and giving his enemy a chance for his life. After his appeal to the law he abandoned all idea of personal vengeance, and he alleges that he is innocent of the late shooting of DONOHUE. He is ill, and unable to endure protracted confinement. He has simply proof of his innocence in the shooting of DONOHUE; and whether either DONOHUE shall be out of danger, and I sincerely hope that he soon will be, or he shall die, I am assured that Mr. SCANNELL will promptly surrender himself. DONOHUE may linger weeks, and meantime should JOHN surrender himself, he must lie in prison without examination and without bail. I am also instructed to say, and I think in view of the grave accusation against JOHN J. SCANNELL, I ought to obey the instruction, that other causes can be shown for grave enmity of others toward Mr. DONOHUE. Personally I have no unkind feeling toward Mr. DONOHUE, and would most gladly see him recover; but in the discharge of my duty to my client I must say that grave alleged facts are already in my possession.

CHARLES S. SPENCER.

Extensive Fire in Chambers-Street.

At 11 o'clock last night a fire occurred in the premises No. 82 Chambers-street, on the second floor, occupied by C. J. HYNS, dealer in cutlery, who sustained a loss of $2,000 on his stock. WALES, COULTER & WILSON, dealers in hardware, on the first floor, had their stock damaged to the extent of $2,500 by water. The flames ascended to the third and fourth floors, occupied by H. SCHMALHAUSEN, importer of beads, and HERMAN SIEBER, dealer in pipes and fancy goods, who sustained a loss of $2,000 each. The building was injured to the amount of $4,000, nearly all of the losses being covered by insurance in City companies. The origin of the fire was not ascertained.

GENERAL EUROPEAN NEWS.

War Between Russia and Turkey Anticipated—The Cambria and the Great Circle Sailing—Trial of a New Iron-Clad.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A telegram, received to-night, speaks of fresh complications between Russia and Turkey.

War between the two Powers is regarded as probable. R.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Before the adjournment of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, Mr. TOWERON, the Secretary of the Liverpool Marine Board, read a paper, proving the yacht Cambria to have adhered to the "great circle sailing," and to have been superbly navigated.....The new iron-clad turret-ship Hotspur, of the Royal Navy, has just concluded her trial-trip at Devonport. Great interest had been felt in her success, and this had sensibly grown since the loss of the Captain. The result is pronounced on all hands entirely satisfactory. The Hotspur carried a twenty-five-ton gun. Some fears were apprehended that this immense weapon could not be successfully handled, but they have been happily dissipated.

ROME AND ITALY.

The Catholic Powers to Maintain the Roman See—The Taking of the City—General Jubilation Over the Result.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Catholic Powers of Europe have already communicated to the Pope their readiness to contribute their quota to make up a revenue for the maintenance of the Holy See. R.

FLORENCE, Sept. 22.—A contingent of each division of the Italian Army occupied the City of Rome, while the remainder went into camp outside the walls. The Papal troops, on capitulating, laid down their arms and defiled before the Italians, who cheered lustily for King VICTOR EMMANUEL. The Papal Legion have gone to Civita Vecchia, there to await the completion of the arrangements now making to transport them to their several countries. The Italian loss in killed and wounded before the city was trifling. The Diplomatic Corps at the Vatican have announced their entire satisfaction with the precautions which have been taken to preserve order. The people of all Italy are enthusiastic over the accomplishment of Italian unity. The large cities are covered with bunting, and fireworks and illuminations attest the general joy.

Shall Rome be the Capital?

FLORENCE, Sept. 22.—A plebiscitum is to be taken in Italy to decide whether Rome shall be the capital of the Kingdom.

EXPLOSION AT YEDDO.

Particulars of the Catastrophe—Nineteen Killed and over One Hundred Injured—A Heart-rending Scene.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The Chicago Tribune publishes a letter, today, from Yeddo, Japan, dated 19th August, giving details of the explosion of the boiler of the American steamship Osio, of Yeddo, at the wharf of the American settlement at Yeddo. Five foreigners and thirteen Japanese were instantly killed, and six foreigners and nearly 100 Japanese were wounded. Among the killed are Rev. Mr. COBES, Mrs. COBES, their child and servant-girl. The steamer was owned by G. W. HOYT, an American, and was expressly built at Yokohama for carrying passengers between that port and Yeddo. Twelve foreigners and 150 Japanese were on board the steamer when the explosion occurred. Everything was ready for starting, when, with a terrific crash, the boiler exploded, carrying away the engine-house, all the front deck and about half of the aft deck. A part of the boiler and pieces of the engine were thrown several rods from the vessel. The scene was heart-rending. Dead bodies, terribly mangled, were lying among or beneath the rubbish. The wounded, most of whom were scalded, were either lying unable to move or endeavoring to get ashore. The foreign citizens of the settlement, some twenty in number, made every effort to rescue the wounded and dead from the scene of destruction. The Japanese seemed able to do nothing but stand and look. The doctor of the English Legation was the only foreign doctor in the city at the time; he was soon on the ground, and labored earnestly. Mr. HOYT and two English and one American surgeon arrived from Yokohama early in the night, and rendered all the assistance in their power. The death of many was hastened by the Japanese doctors.

Summary Justice—A Robber in Prison for Twenty-four Hours Within Twenty-four Hours of the Commission of His Crime.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Sept. 22.—The paymaster of SHORBERGER's iron-mill, while walking along the street yesterday afternoon, was knocked down by two men, who seized a satchel containing $11,000 and ran into the Pan-handle Railroad tunnel, where the Police captured them and recovered the money. CYRUS ADAMS, who knocked the man down and robbed him, was tried today and sentenced to twenty-four years' imprisonment by Judge STOWE. The prisoner shot twice at the policemen who arrested him, thereby aggravating his case. He will be in the Penitentiary within twenty-four hours of the commission of the robbery.

Earnings of the Central Pacific Railroad—Shipment of Treasure from California—Compliment to Gen. Sherman.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 22.—The earnings of the Central Pacific Railroad for the first fifteen days of September, were $422,325. The present traffic and travel justify an estimate for the full month of nearly $850,000, which will be the largest monthly earning since the road was finished.....The total amount of treasure shipped overland during the past week was $227,000, principally in coin.....The Oregon Legislature passed a complimentary resolution to Gen. SHERMAN, and invited him to visit the capital.

The Hartford Races—Johnny Rob and Thomas Jefferson Winners.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 22.—In the 2:28 class, the race not concluded yesterday, Johnny Rob won in 2:28½. In the 2:30 class, today, Thomas Jefferson won in three straight heats, over Old Pat and Lady Walton. Time—2:26; 2:28; 2:30. Lady Walton was declared distanced by the Judges, because of unsteady trotting, though but a length behind the winner. In the 2:40 class the race was not completed. CAMERON's Jennie, of New-York, winning two heats, and Belle of Watertown two. The races close on Saturday.

ODD-FELLOWS.

Session of the Grand Lodge at Baltimore—Applications and Reports—Asylums for the Aged and Schools for Orphans Recommended.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22.—The Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. met at 9 o'clock this morning, and proceeded to business. The By-laws of the Moos River Encampment No. 6 were presented and referred to the Committee on By-laws. The application for the organization of Dakota Lodge No. 1 at Yanktown, Dakota Territory, was reported favorably by the Committee on Petitions. Also an application for the Moose River Encampment No. 6 at St. Johnsbury, Vt. An application of the Shawnee Encampment No. 8, Topeka, Ill., for a duplicate warrant, the original having been destroyed, was reported on favorably and warrant granted. A resolution that subordinate encampments when they appear in public may wear such uniform and style of head-dress as may be approved by the Grand Patriarch of the jurisdiction, was referred to the Legislative Committee. A resolution from the Grand Lodge of Delaware asking that odes used in subordinate lodges be increased to at least four for each particular purpose, was referred to a committee. The Committee on Petitions made a report confirming the warrants for the following subordinate: Plainmouth Encampment, No. 8, Nebraska; Wyoming Encampment, No. 1, at Laramie, Washington Territory, and Jefferson Encampment, No. 7, at Pine Bluff, Ark., which were adopted. The appeal of LEUSA C. SNYDER, whose husband had been a member of Purity Lodge, No. 236, before his death, was reported favorably by the Committee on Appeals, with a resolution reversing the action of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, and ordering Purity Lodge to pay Mrs. SNYDER the benefits claimed by her. The report lays over under the rule. The appeal for the introduction of the Order into the Island of Barbados was reported favorably, and the whole subject was left to the officers of the Grand Lodge for such action as they may deem expedient. The reports on other appeals were not of general interest. A report was made from the Special Committee recommending an amendment to Act 15 of the Constitution, that officers and members shall receive such mileage and per diem as may be determined upon at each session, to be paid out of the treasury of the Grand Lodge; also recommending the organization of asylums for aged Odd-fellows and schools for the orphans of Odd-fellows. Some time was spent in secret session and then the society adjourned.

THE CINCINNATI EXPOSITION.

Affairs Not Yet in Complete Order—Fine Displays of Machinery and Implements—Additional Buildings Required.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 22.—The Industrial Exposition, though the formal opening took place last night, has hardly been in a condition for the reception of visitors. There was not today the chaos of last night, but there was still considerable confusion and a great aggregation of things made of iron, copper, tin, wood, wool, cotton, flax and paper, which men were trying to get into shape. An immense quantity of material has reached the rooms today of all kinds, and the new applications for room have hardly abated in the least. The power room, which was not more than half full last night is about filled this evening. The machinery for working both iron and wood has increased. In Mechanics' Hall there has been a large increase of stores. Valuable additions have been made in agricultural implements and carriages. The work has proceeded more slowly in the fine art and music hall. [The dust incident to the preparation has been so great that the better pictures have not thus far been exposed. The display of edge tools, scales, gas and coal-oil lamps, coffins and caskets, monuments, works in brass, china, fancy articles, and manufactured tobacco is very fine. There is a good showing of English pocket cutlery, and an equally good display of New-York table cutlery. The Western File-works, of Pennsylvania, have a prominent position, making a good show. The Douglass Ax Manufactory, of Massachusetts, have a large line of their goods exhibited. Wisconsin sends the blind hinges for closing shutters. Louisville, Ky., contributes a most creditable display of edge tools, embracing axes, mill picks, shavers, hand-plows, and many attractive things. There is a varied exhibition of locks, principally of Cincinnati manufacture. They are generally uncapped, so as to reveal their intricate mechanism. Saws of all kinds, principally of Cincinnati make, has a fine display. Columbus, Ohio, contributes a great variety of butt-hinges. Dayton, Ohio, sends, since yesterday, a patent hay-fork, or lift, intended to economize the labor of removing straw. The attendance of visitors has not been large today, because it has been generally known that the Exhibition was not yet in a satisfactory condition. Things will not be well arranged until next week, although three buildings have been added to the main hall to supply the pressing want.

The erection of another building was agitated among the members of the General Committee. Inasmuch as the exhibition will last three weeks beyond the present one, they would have ample time to do it. The greatest care has been exercised to guard against fire. A steam fire engine will be placed near the buildings to-morrow, with steam up ready for work in case of any emergency of the kind.

Libel Suit Against a Boston Newspaper—Agent of the Associated Press Complainant.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Messrs. DUNHAM & THAYER, publishers of the Times, of this city have been sued in the Superior Court for libel by Mr. J. W. SIMONTON, of the Associated Press. The matter complained of consists of a series of articles, which, plaintiff avers, reflect upon his personal integrity in the administration of the affairs of the Associated Press. Mr. SIMONTON's friends claim that these articles were unprovoked, and so clearly malicious as to leave him no other recourse than to force his assailants to face their own charges in Court. Real estate of the defendants to the amount of $40,000 has been attached to abide the result of the suit.

The Republican Ticket Endorsed by the Colored Men.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The colored people of the Eleventh, Twelfth and Thirteenth Congressional Districts held a Convention today, and considered the political and educational situation. Strong resolutions were adopted indorsing the Republican State ticket, and favoring the erection of a seminary for colored males and females.

The Coming Pennsylvania State Fair.

SCRANTON, Penn., Sept. 22.—The entries for the State Fair, which commences next Tuesday, are rapidly coming in. Large herds of the choicest cattle of New-York and Pennsylvania are entered, and will be on hand. The exhibition promises to be the largest and most successful ever held by the Society.

A New Catholic Church at New-Haven—Laying the Corner-Stone.

NEW-HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 22.—The corner-stone of the new Catholic Church of St. Mary's Immaculate, on Hillhouse-avenue, was laid this afternoon by Right Rev. Bishop MCFARLAND, assisted by about thirty clergymen of this and the neighboring dioceses. The services were very imposing, and were witnessed by several thousand spectators. Rev. J. F. BROWNE, of New-York, preached the sermon. The church will be one of the finest in New-England when completed, and will seat nearly 3,000 persons.

CASUALTIES.

Sinking of a Mississippi Steamer—Fires in Boston and New-Bedford—Persons Burn Over by Cars.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 22.—The steamer Edinburgh, running from Cincinnati to New-Orleans, struck a snag at Island No. 40, last night, and sunk in nine feet of water. The steamer Belle of St. Louis took off the passengers and live stock, and brought them here. The Captain came down and secured the wrecker, ECKERT, to raise her, which he thinks can easily be done.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The grocery of JAMES E. ABBOTT, on Pleasant-street, was burned last night. The loss is $6,000; insured for $3,500, in the Firemen's office of Hartford. Two other fires also occurred, damaging the premises of GEORGE TURNER, hat manufacturer, on Otis-street, and GILMAN'S extension-table manufactory, on Fulton-street. The losses were small.

NEW-BEDFORD, Sept. 22.—HENRY RYDER'S oil-works, on North Water-street, were burned last night. Loss, $40,000; half insured.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Sept. 22.—A young man, twenty-six years of age, named ARLINGTON FULLER, accidentally shot himself at Newburg, last night, and died this morning.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 22.—DENNIS CRONIN was run over and killed on the track of the Lowell Railroad this morning. It is supposed he was intoxicated.....The body of an unknown man, shockingly mutilated, was found, this morning, near the track of the Old Colony Railroad, at Bridgewater, supposed to have been killed by a night train.

Serious Accident at the Maine Agricultural Fair.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 22.—A serious accident happened this afternoon at the Fair grounds of the State Agricultural Society. A portion of the spectators' seats gave way, precipitating five or six hundred persons to the ground. Several were slightly injured, and three or four had their arms broken and received other serious injuries.

Miscellaneous Telegrams.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—A boat-race was rowed here today, between the Schuylkill Navy Club, of this city, and the Nassau Club, of New-York. The Nassau Club won the race. Time—Nassau, 19 minutes 28 seconds; Schuylkill, 19 minutes 54 seconds.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 22.—Vice-President COLFAX addressed a large audience yesterday at Nashville, and another last night at Connorsville.

SUSPENSION BRIDGE, Sept. 22.—Gen. W. A. C. EVAN and staff, of Cuba, arrived here today from the Democratic Convention at Rochester, and are stopping at the Mont Eagle House. They will leave in a few days for Canada.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—JOSEPH H. DANIELS, of Peabody, is under arrest, charged with attempting to poison Mrs. DORCAS SHULANER, his mother-in-law.

NEW-ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—The deaths here from yellow fever are nine, of whom four were natives of Italy, two of France, two of Germany and one of Virginia.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The census of Illinois has been completed. The population is 2,667,052. In 1860 the population was 1,711,954.

THE TURF.

The Fleetwood Park Fall Trotting Meeting—Third Day—Magnificent Trotting—Lucenses Wins the 2:20 Purse in Six Closely-Contested Heats—Time: 2:26 1-2, 2:29, 2:27, 2:27, 2:25, 2:29.

The best-contested trotting-race of the season was witnessed, yesterday, at Fleetwood Park, in the trot for the purse of $2,500 for horses that had never beaten 2:26. It was the third day of the meeting, and the lovely weather induced a large number of the patrons of the sport and lovers of fast horses to patronize the new course. There were five well-known fast horses entered for this race, and the hopes that were entertained of an unusually exciting contest were more than realized, for a

THE TIEN-TSIN TRAGEDY.

Tsemrhefen, His Report—Chunghow, the New Embassy—Imperial Decrees—French Ultimatum—The Prospect.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PEKIN, Monday, July 25, 1870.

The Tien-tsin tragedy is a month old, and it seems as though a year had passed since we heard of that terrible event. Some one says, (the "Autocrat," I believe,) that "a great calamity is as old as the trilobites an hour after it has happened. It stains backward through all the leaves we have turned over before its blot of tears and of blood is dry on the page we are tracing." This event certainly "stains backward," as it recalls local premonitions, and reminds us of similar superstitions and similar antipathies in other parts of the Empire. It makes us more deeply aware than ever before that we are treading on a soil beneath which slumber the fires of the earthquake—revolting elements of hostility deep-rooted in the minds of three hundred and ninety-nine millions of this people which are almost incompatible with permanent relations of peace and unity. Before this time another terrible act in this bloody drama was reasonably looked for—I mean the apprehension and summary execution of the guilty. But this Government is slow in its movements, though exceedingly anxious to purge itself from any suspicion or complicity in the Tien-tsin outrage.

THE VICEROY OF CHIHLI.

It was not till a fortnight after he received the Emperor's orders that the Viceroy of Chihli appeared upon the scene; and as yet he has done nothing beyond making a few preliminary inquiries. All are agreed that he is the best man the Emperor could have chosen for the management of an office of such grave consequence. He is the famous TSENGKOKOF—captor of Nankin and queller of the Taeping rebellion—a star of the first magnitude in this hemisphere—though his lustre may not have penetrated to the Western World. So successful in his literary career, that he early in life became a member of the Imperial Institute, he has been still more fortunate in his military undertakings—enjoying the real distinction of giving the finishing blow to the most formidable insurrection which the Manchu Government has ever encountered. The Government recognizes him as its savior, and pays him with honors such as it never before conferred on a member of the subject race. If his lucky star does not forsake him in this instance, there will be no end to the honors which a grateful Empire will heap upon his aged head. Whatever others may do, it is he who will get the credit of rescuing his country from the danger of a disastrous war.

THE CHARGES AGAINST THE FOREIGNERS.

TSENGKOFON's first measures, though not very prompt or very strong, have been marked by good sense. Commencing by degrading three of the local Magistrates for not restraining their people, he has followed up this proceeding by taking evidence on the charges of kidnapping, cannibalism, &c., which are preferred against the French and other foreigners—a step which in your eyes may appear ridiculous and unnecessary, but among a people who believe the wildest stories, and habitually stigmatize every foreigner as a fan wei, or devil, such investigation becomes of the first importance. His next step will no doubt be the capital execution of a few of the chief culprits—among whom it is thought the three Mandarins above referred to ought to be included.

ANOTHER EMBASSY.

In the present great emergency the Chinese are about to send another Embassy—a special Envoy—with a view to conciliating the French Government, and averting, if possible, its impending vengeance. The measure is a wise one, and indicates that some minds among them are beginning to appreciate the advantages of diplomatic intercourse. The person selected for this mission is again the very best to whom that duty could be intrusted. He is CHUNGHOW, the Superintendent of Trade for the Northern ports, an official of the highest rank, a Manchu, and a guardian to the heir apparent, he will carry with him all the weight that official dignity can give. Residing at Tien-tsin, and an eye-witness to the atrocities perpetrated by his countrymen, he understands the case fully, and to some extent will pass as a representative of the guilty city. In the guilt of his people he is not regarded as sharing, inasmuch as he had no local jurisdiction; but it is thought that a little forethought, energy and courage on his part might have averted the massacre. That he wished it, or in any degree sympathized with the murderous mob, no one for a moment suspects. Among the high Mandarins no one is more friendly to foreigners, or better entitled to the praise of being liberal and enlightened. In 1868 he escorted the American Embassy to and from the capital, and won golden opinions by his affability and hospitable attentions. Mr. WARD's parting wish was that he might be sent as Ambassador to the Western World—an honor which CHUNGHOW now considers his evil star has thrust upon him. Chunghow will set out on the fortnight from the date, unless the news from France should be of such a character as to indicate that any attempt at negotiation would be abortive. What negotiations he would propose I am hardly conscious, unless such reparation as rebuilding the demolished houses, and sacrificing a multitude of Chinese lives to the manes of the murdered foreigners.

IMPERIAL DECREES.

Since the date of the massacre three Imperial Decrees on the subject have appeared in the Pekin Gazette. The first contained nothing of importance beyond the appointment of TSENGKOFON to investigate the causes of the outbreak and punish the guilty. The second rebukes the people for giving heed to and circulating idle rumors, and protests that His Majesty regards with equal favor his Christian and non-Christian subjects, "making no distinction but that of good and evil." It further hands over CHUNGHOW and the local officers to the tribunal for punishment, and warns the authorities in all the provinces to take timely precautions against similar outbreaks. The effect of this on the public mind was immediate and marked, showing how much the Emperor might do in the way of enlightening his people if he would only set himself in earnest to dispel their delusions.

TSENGKOFON'S REPORTS.

The third of these edicts, which has just appeared, (since this letter was commenced,) gives a résumé of the reports of TSENGKOFON, and will, no doubt, have a highly beneficial effect. The following is the substance of this important document:

TSENGKOFON and CHUNGHOW report that they have investigated the causes of the Tient-sin riots. As to the charge of kidnapping children brought against the Christians, they say that WANGSOW, though he formerly gave evidence to that effect, is not to be taken as a reliable witness, as he was not steady or consistent in his testimony, and there is no proof that he was employed by the Catholic Mission. At the House of Mercy they found a hundred and fifty children of both sexes, who declared that they had been brought there by their parents to be supported, and that they had not been decoyed or kidnapped. As to the charge of plucking out people's eyes and hearts, they had called on the people to adduce proof, but none had been brought; neither were there any complaints of children being abducted. Similar scenes of excitement have taken place in Hunan and Kiongsu, as Yong-Chang and Tseemen-Tonung and Kwungtung, at which places, in the adjustment of such difficulties, no pains had been taken to point out the falsehood of the rumors which gave rise to them. Those rumors reached the people of Tient-sin, and were at once believed.

Add to this the fact that the gates of the Foreign Mission were kept closely barred, and both that and the House of Mercy had cellars for the deposit of coal, and to secure them from damage. The sick whom they received did not always come out; they received the destitute and those who were at the point of death—all of which things gave rise to suspicion. Finally, in the months of May and June, there were some instances of kidnapping, which were made to implicate the Catholic Mission, and when the people saw the French Consul, SONTHIER, fire a pistol at their Mandarins, they rose up by myriads in a wild tumult. The fact is that the charges of cutting out eyes and hearts, with similar atrocities, are altogether false. They are not authenticated by a word of proof.

We had ordered TSENGKOFON and CHUNGHOW to make an impartial inquiry, and now they report that the charges are false, and state the circumstances which gave rise to suspicion, (as above noted,) which are now clear and intelligible. Should a similar case occur in any of the provinces, they may serve to dispel doubt and allay excitement. Respect this.

DEMANDS OF THE FRENCH.

27th.—The prospect of a pacific adjustment is growing fainter. The French Admiral has addressed a note to the Chinese Ministers, demanding the capital punishment of the two Mandarins most directly implicated in the massacre at Tien-tsin. The Chinese, who manifest little horror for the outrage or sympathy for the sufferers, are struck dumb by the audacity of the demand. That two heads wearing the buttons of high office, should fall from their shoulders for such a cause appeared impossible. They exclaim against it, but will, I doubt not, finish by furnishing the heads that are called for, or others which may pass for substitutes. When TSENKOFON first read the demand he was taken with a sudden illness; in other words, fainted away; and when his dispatch, enclosing it, arrived here late in the night, a midnight meeting of the Council of State was held, and CHUNGHOW called. The next day MOON-TA-JEN, one of their number, and a member of the Board of Censors, was deputed to aid the Viceroy in his difficult task. MOON is one of the new Ministers of whom I gave you a sketch some months ago. He is modest and brave, and, it is thought, will deal with a high hand, with the ruffians of Tien-tsin. If this demand were all that lay in the way of a settlement I should not augur war. But it is merely the first of a long catalogue, all of which will be brought forward in due time, and perhaps each in succession raised to the dignity of an ultimatum.

Great severity, not to say greatness, prevails in the Diplomatic Corps. Mr. WADE, Her Britannic Majesty's Chargé, has gone to Tien-tsin, where he will use his influence with both parties to bring about an understanding; and Mr. LOW, our United States Minister, is to meet the Council for Foreign Affairs this P. M., with the same object. Prince KUNG called on him the other day to invoke his good offices, to which, in fact, we are pledged by the terms of our treaty.

MR. TILDEN'S SPEECH.

His Hopes and Fears—The Great Capacity of the Democratic Party—Centralism the Bugbear of the Republican Party—The Republic in Peril—The Democratic Party Alone Can Save It.

We publish below the speech of Mr. SAMUEL J. TILDEN, in full, which was delivered in the Democratic Convention at Rochester, on Wednesday, as only a portion appeared in our first edition of yesterday:

FELLOW-CITIZENS, DEMOCRATS AND DELEGATES TO THE CONVENTION: The condition of the Empire of Freedom and their hopes for the future, the last seventy years, throw a brilliant light on the provident and wise sagacity of the men who laid the foundations of the Republic of America. We see seventy millions or more of the most intelligent, religious and highly civilized portions of the human race, so far as the old world is concerned, emancipated from military monarchies and Imperial despotisms. It would seem that the chief if not the whole end of mankind was to pursue to their uttermost the arts of mutual destruction year by year, age by age. One nation discovers a larger power to draw from its people the means of creating a vast standing army; and it forces from the warrings of the people the means of supporting that armament; and there seems to be no other limit either in the number of men brought into the standing army, or the amount of money exacted for their support, than the utmost capacity of the masses of the people to furnish them. But the immortal patriots who framed for us our Government, foreseeing that the time would come in a century or two when, in this fair continent, there should be a population as large or larger than all the population of Europe, looked about them to secure to against the evil consequences of which we are the victims, the blessings of tranquillity and peace, for us that national system, the principles of which you and all of us are met together today to vindicate, to uphold and support. [Applause.] What were these principles? First of all, was a confederate union of the whole continent, a union that should keep peace between all its members under a form of government that would secure that exist in those countries; that should secure to us freedom of trade and freedom of intercourse for all this vast land, embracing every variety of soil, of climate, of capacity, of natural productiveness. But, in order that we might have this union, and that it might be made to have perpetuity, they adopted that great and great maxim which teaches us to refer the government of every locality to the people of that locality, and as far as possible to leave to every individual to pursue his own mode of happiness and his own career, according as his judgment and his interest might dictate. (Applause.)

CENTRALISM.

Centralism in Government—what does it mean? Does it mean liberty? Has it been the experience of other countries? It means the worst government that human invention ever devised or that human craft ever applied. It means an unintelligent Government, for how can Maine Know what is appropriate legislation for the internal concerns of Georgia? Our wise ancestors, in the Constitution, feared that they had attempted of preserving civil liberty on this continent, and the rights of the people everywhere, except by preventing centred government, and the experience of all nations will confirm the wisdom of their theory. We stand here today to vindicate, to uphold, to strengthen and to make prevail the principles of Democratic Party of the Union, because it represents those ideas. I would not say a word of unnecessary unkindness of the many excellent men who are included in the Republican Party. I don't doubt that the organization embraces a great deal of intelligence, and a great deal of good intention, and a great deal of public virtue; but the crowning evil of that organization and its growing danger to the people of this country is that it is the party of centralism, and centralism means imperialism. [Applause.] Undoubtedly in the conflicts of war it could scarcely be otherwise than that the power of the Government should be greatly extended. Therefore we have witnessed, in the Federal Government, a gradual absorption of the rights of the States, of the localities, and of individuals; and we find today a system of political philosophy being carried on and developed that must ultimately conduct, if it continues to prevail in this country, to the same result that it has conducted the down-trodden nations of the Old World. I very dare to predict, not with any of that confidence that desires the results, but that foreboding that regards it as the worst of human evils, that by and by, in half a century or more, when this country shall come to embrace one or two hundred millions of human beings, if the policy of centralism continues, we shall reproduce on this continent precisely what we see today upon the European continent. Fellow-citizens, you cannot have popular institutions and free government with centralism in your political institutions. The experience of all mankind proves this. If one great power dominating all over the whole continent, regulating everything, absorbing all the powers of human society, interfering with and governing every man's business, and constituting it what its friends described to be and designate as a paternal government—if that can be established here we may bid a long adieu to our hopes that our country shall be great and glorious as the home for the toiling millions of the world.

THE GLORY OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

It is because the Republican Party represents the ideas of centralism, and because the Democratic Party represents the contrary ideas, that I stand here today, as for the last quarter of a century I have stood, to advocate and uphold it by whatever means lie within my power. The great maxim which teaches us to refer the government of every locality to the people of that locality, and as far as possible to leave to every individual to pursue his own mode of happiness and his own career, according as his judgment and his interest might dictate. (Applause.)

THE CHARGE OF DISUNION.

I believe that we can bring back the Government to what it was in the days of JEFFERSON and in the days of JACKSON, if we can lop off those usurped powers, if we can reduce its sphere of action, if we can cut off those vast and unnecessary systems of expenditure, if we can restore the Government to the simple, frugal administration that existed in the days of those patriotic men who laid down the principles of the Democratic Party, that it will become a mission of good, not only to us, but to the whole world. Fellow-citizens, I do not despair of the American Republic, although there have been moments of darkness and peril. I do not despair of the human race, and I sometimes think even of France—of that Republic that has twice failed. I reflect that three times the Empire has broken down, three times the kingly thrones of constitutional monarchy have tottered and fallen, and stand here today to witness these principles as wise and necessary, and identified with the institutions of the country. I stand here to claim for the Democratic Party that it is in its advocacy of these principles not merely an agency of good without which we could not well get along, but it is the most beneficent and philanthropic institution which the century has ever saw. [Great applause.] I hope that of our Republican friends who swerved and mentiorously devote their energies to many useful purposes, when public charity is the object—I hope they will not be shocked by my theory on this subject. But I say that if the Democratic Party will bring back the Government to what it was in the days of JEFFERSON, and in the days of JACKSON, they will restore the Constitution; if they will stem and beat back this wave of centralism that leads to imperialism, that party will confer upon us and upon all mankind the greatest blessing that the efforts of any body of men ever conferred on the human race in any age or any time.

PRESERVE A CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT.

It is because I believe in the progress of the race that I come forward to vindicate the dream of my youth and stand before you today. Wearied though we sometimes are with public care and toil, there remains to us the bright hope of my country that I learned from my ancestors who, with your ancestors, helped to achieve that independence which we enjoy today to preserve and transmit to posterity in full extension of constitutional government in this country. [Applause.] In preserving constitutional government in this country we preserve and extend it everywhere. Let us, therefore, go forth with hope and courage, discouraged or disheartened. There will come a better day yet to come; and though it may not reach us in this day or this generation, there will yet be a future when all over the world the people will be admitted to an increased share in the administration of their own affairs. I believe there is a progress in human affairs. I believe that, notwithstanding the many defeats and the feets, the current of human events is onward; and we, as we stand, and will be said it shall attain this ultimate result. American free Government will finally and bless the people of every country and every clime.

REWARD FOR FAITHFUL SERVICE.

Fellow-citizens, let us not be discouraged; let us not hesitate; let us not fear. It will happen, doubtless, that many events will turn out different from what we desire and expect; but the cause is ever onward. Let us be faithful to it, true to it, pay our best energies to its advancement, and the blessings of Heaven above, of the millions yet to come on this continent to occupy, and which in a century will exceed the whole people of Europe—these blessings will be on the head of every man who contributed to it, no matter how small; how comparatively insignificant, to the achievement of a noble object, so grand and so full of blessings to all mankind.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Object-Teaching.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

People in general do not understand that object-teaching is an adjunct of other teaching, that it is, in fact, illustrative teaching, and that, whoever makes lessons clear through appeals to the senses, is an object-teacher. In common parlance, "object-teaching is very good for little children, but it is too babyish for the more advanced." Yet elucidation of any kind beyond spoken, printed or written words and figures expressing number—whether through objects themselves or representation of these by means of sketches on the black-board, charts, pictures, &c.—is object-teaching, and children who are fond of being considered men or women before their time, need not be ashamed of learning through objects, as these are deemed essential in the colleges. Chemists, physiologists, geologists, archæologists and scientific men of every grade learn and teach through objects. The verbal banishment of object-teaching to the Kindergarten, the ignoring of it elsewhere discourages those teachers who do not believe in the comparative worth of any teaching of which it is not an adjunct, who, like Paul, "prefer not to build on" another's "foundation," and who desire both to begin and carry on the education of the young. They will, it is true, be made heartily welcome to begin, but while conducting the most important part—for surely it is easy to perceive that there can be no good superstructure over a poor foundation—the most enlightened public awards them the "prentice fee." Yet to defray the cost of illustration into which the varied wants of pupils and their own enthusiasm will be sure to tempt them, they are offered the smallest of the at best small monetary remunerations given to teachers. The world is not thus obtuse with respect to ordinary house-building; and if he who said to an audience living in the earliest century of the Christian era, "According to the grace of God that is in me, as a wise master builder, I have laid the foundation," were to appear in the flesh now, he might well be excused if he failed to say, "Men and brethren of the nineteenth century, ye seem to me less wise than those who lived in the first." Then the Apostle James, in similar costume, could with great propriety conclude this address by adding, "My brethren, this ought not so to be."

ANN DICKSON.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Sept. 17, 1870.

The Late Trial of Rifles.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Within the last month the world has been called to look upon a great military nation cheated in the matter of its army, arms and ammunition, and through this deception of its officials, tens of thousands of its best and bravest uselessly slaughtered and the nation decimated. While this very thing was going on in Europe, something similar was going on in our own country and by our own army officers, in the matter of arms.

I have before me a pamphlet published by Ordnance Department, U. S. A., under date of Washington, D. C., Aug. 1, 1870, entitled, "Ordnance Memoranda, No. 11, giving the result of a Board of Army Officers, convened at St. Louis, Mo., March 2, 1870, to test fire-arms, &c., and report thereon." The following are the officers: Gens. SCHOFIELD, POTTER, and MERRITT; Col. HAMILTON, and Major VAN VORT—all under the hand and direction of Chief of Ordnance Gen. DYER. According to the report, the Board received over forty breech-loading rifles, and, as instructed, reported on six. Each of the six went through nine different tests. It is to the records of the tests and from these records, the recommendations of these officers—that I particularly call attention; and they must astonish any honest, plain, hard-thinking man.

The report reads, "We have selected the following six systems for infantry musketry in the order of relative merit." Particularly note "in the order of relative merit." I will now consider the first in order, being recommended by them as the best, and the sixth being recommended by them as the worst. It is their own record of the performance of these two rifles under the same test, to which I would especially call public attention. And let the young men of the country, who are liable any day to be called upon to handle these muskets in the defense of our country, take note of this thing:

COMPARISON OF REPORTS ON NOS. 1 AND 6.

1. Number of pieces.—Two pieces in favor of No. 1.
2. Accuracy.—Both equal.
3. Rapidity.—6 shots—No. 1, 2 minutes 38 seconds, and failed to explode 2 cartridges. No. 6, 1 minute 31 seconds; 17 seconds in favor of No. 6, and it exploded every cartridge.
4. Endurance.—400 shots—Time: No. 1, 55 minutes 20 seconds, and failed to explode 10 cartridges. No. 6, 21 minutes 38 seconds; 33 minutes and 55 seconds in favor of No. 6, and it ignited every cartridge.
5. Memorandum of No. 1.—Many of the cases were drawn with difficulty, and the operating rod with much friction on hammer, and small particles of iron were found in branch mechanism.
6. Memorandum of No. 6.—Arm worked freely; no signs of its fouling; the cartridge cases easily extracted and thrown clear of the piece.
7. Exposure.—No. 1, no additional signs of weakness. No. 6, no signs of wear or weakness.
8. Sand.—Both worked freely. No. 6, no signs of wear or weakness.
9. Salt water.—Both worked freely. No. 6, no signs of wear or weakness.
10. Defective Cartridges.—No. 1, slight escape of gas from fifth, and much gas escaped from the sixth cartridge. No. 6, slight escape of gas from the last three cartridges.
11. Strength by Increased Charges.—No. 1, after second charge the breech-block moved very stiffly; the lower portion of the barrel was pressed against the breech-block; the lower portion of the chamber was enlarged. No. 6, piece uninjured; shell extracted with difficulty.

I have omitted the barrel, as any barrel can be adapted to either system.

Now there are the records of four other rifles, one of which, No. 4, I would also call attention to. Two hundred and sixty-five cartridges were fired, and it failed to ignite 107, and the report reads: "Arm removed, as it would not ignite the cartridges. The breech-mechanism having been fitted to a Springfield barrel, was again tested for endurance." Two hundred rounds fired—100 "cartridges failed to ignite." Report reads: "It was found that the hammer shoulder-washer was partially uncrewed, so as to prevent the point of the hammer from projecting sufficiently to ignite the cartridges. The arm having been cleaned, and the shoulder-washer screwed in its proper position, it was tested again for endurance." Two hundred and thirteen rounds were fired this time; it exploded all but seventy-three cartridges. At this point the report reads: "The arm was withdrawn and a stronger spring was inserted, and the firing resumed." This time, out of 227, it failed to ignite twenty-three cartridges; 205 rounds fired, the rifle failed to explode 205 of them. In the fifth test the report reads: "The upper end of the thumb-piece was broken during the firing, and it was replaced by one of a different pattern." In the eighth test the report reads: "Gas escaped from the last three cartridges; the last one threw the hammer back to half cock." In the ninth test the report reads: "The second charge broke the face plate off its shoulder, and cracked it radially in five pieces, hammer thrown back to half cock."

Here is a rifle that was not able to discharge twenty-five per cent. of its cartridges; had to have three new pieces put into it in its trial; blown open to half cock twice, and the last test cracked and broke its brush arrangement—stands No. 4 "in the order of relative merit."

With rifle No. 6, in the order of relative merit, the report reads, "The rifle No. 6 was omitted." Why should the rifle with the record per formed the best, discharge every cartridge, [illegible] not be put to other tests? It went through all the tests, showing all its capabilities, without failure, and yet it was withdrawn, or rejected (or pieces not specified broken or cracked—their own report, see in the last paragraph, "left uninjured.") Why should this be considered the poor rifle?

I have given in the above, exact quotations from this report, as can be seen by any one who can read. The document is to be laid of Chief of Ordnance Gen. DYER, Washington, D. C. After comparing the reports, I suggest to the responsible head of the Chief of Ordnance, and find that the rifle which on the ninth test "enlarged" or blew outwardly "the lower portion of the chamber," with others which did not pass an equal test, is declared superior to all others, and a large number are ordered for immediate trial in service; and, as mention is made of the muskets that in every test performed better than either of these three. By their own record, No. 6 beat them all. Now, then, why put the best, which would stand all the tests, utterly failing in some—before one that went through every test and has the best record on the six? "Testing this, their own record, as evidence in this case, if there ever was a nation being cheated, it is this, in the matter of army arms are being selected. If tests are nothing, chance and everything. Then keep to them, and go by them.

Life Insurance.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I read with much interest your article in today's issue, and would be glad to add to it my experience.

I was induced by a persuasive agent to insure my life for a period of years for $10,000, for which I paid exorbitant prices for three years, the particulars of which I can give you if you require.

At the expiration of that time my resources, from loss, were such that I could not meet my payments.

The result is that, having paid the Company over $6,000, they have cancelled the policy and refuse to pay me anything back for the amount I have already paid.

My proofs are ready and can be produced.

Knowing your habit of publishing nothing without responsible security, I beg to state that I am, Very respectfully,

EDWARD L. CORLIES.

Effects of American Absenteeism in Europe.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The TIMES editorial, Sept. 19, headed "American Absentees," very forcibly points out the evils of prolonged absenteeism, and which is daily increasing among our countrymen, and particularly among our country-women; to the latter class of whom, the charms of a residence in Paris, where they can live comparatively without household cares, and shutting their eyes to some small domestic peculiarities, can get rid of that ever-fretting institution, the domestic nuisance that their sisters at home suffer under, are so irresistible.

But there is another evil connected with this of far greater magnitude, and that is the removal of entire families to the Continent of Europe, for it is a very noticeable point that but very few go to England for the ostensible purpose of educating their children there. The injury done to the children themselves by such a course was pointed out years ago by BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, who, in one of his common-sense letters, strongly dissuaded a relative of his from it. One of the strongest reasons he urged against it was that it deprived the child subjected to it from forming those intimacies and friendship upon which so much of the charm and support of our maturer years depend, at that period of life when they are the most disinterested, the purest and most enduring. For if a foreign education is to be of any service to a child, it should be thorough, and to attain to this point, under the systems pursued abroad, requires the whole of youth to be devoted to it.

Many not very sensible parents take their children abroad almost solely with the foolish notion of their learning to speak well one or more foreign languages. All of this is very well; for a man who can converse in two tongues, all other things being equal, is, at times, more efficient than one who has only the command of one. But how many times does this really happen to any one, in his own country, who has made the acquaintance of a foreign language? If for social purposes, hardly once in a year. Foreigners, as a general rule, who come among us, know something of our own language, and, except to indulge the small vanity of some young miss, or pretentious mama, prefer to speak it, however badly, to listening to their own murdered by false grammar and execrable pronunciation, even by those who have acquired it abroad. Even for the purpose of making one's self conversant with the literature of a foreign language, it will usually be found that those who have any taste for such pursuits are the persons who have acquired the language from home and at home.

But there is another and even more serious point of view which should address itself to conscientious American parents, to whom the moral and religious training of their children are matters of the greatest importance. Will their children not be subjected to influences in their daily intercourse with the native children which they would sincerely deprecate, to say nothing of the influences of immoral books, both male and female. This is no merely hypothetical case. The writer passed several years on the Continent of Europe when young enough to mingle mostly with the young, yet old enough to form a tolerably correct judgment of what was passing under his observation. The conclusion he then came to was, that an American child could not be well subjected to more untoward influences than those to which he was exposed in most foreign boarding-schools. M.

American Absentees.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

You have a very good article on "American Absentees," correct in many respects, but not so in others. You say, for instance: "So far as opportunities for æsthetic development or means of physical comfort go," &c. I think you paint or rather write couleur de rose. When I returned in June with the Scotia I got disgusted with the dirt in the streets here, not having seen anything like it in the dirtiest Italian city. I missed the comfortable restaurants on the ground floor, being obliged here to go down into unwholesome basements. I missed the Paris street carriages, for after dinner we always took one of these pretty Victorias, paying two francs an hour, or to go to the Bois, two francs seventy-five centimes, so that a drive of three hours came to six or eight francs, while here I have to pay just as many dollars. To go into a store in Paris and buy something was, from the politeness of the shop-people, a real pleasure; here, it is a favor on the part of most of them if they condescend to sell anything to me. Another very great annoyance is the way they encumber all the streets and sidewalks here. Such a shameful condition of the pavements is unheard of in all Europe; and the same may be said with reference to the wagons and trucks left in the street. When any building is going up in a European city or any repairing done to a building, care is taken to protect the passers-by; here the Irish hands on a new building think it the greatest fun to drive passers-by into the street. I could mention many other objectionable features of New-York, or New-Dublin, as it might be better called under the present constellation of the City Government, but I believe the above are enough to satisfy you that New-York is not yet abreast of Paris, or of any other European city.

The British Army.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Noticing, about a fortnight ago, you had a leader in your paper about the smallness and insignificance of the British Army, I venture to give you a few facts that will show that, besides garrisoning her vast possessions, she can throw an army into the field equal to that with which France began the present war. According to the estimates of the present year accepted by Parliament, England has now:

Troops of the line	179,000
Army reserve, Class No. 1	2,000
Army reserve, Class No. 2	20,000
Militia	134,027
Yeomanry cavalry	17,108
Volunteers	136,281
Volunteer artillery	22,512
Total	511,928

Excepting some 20,000 troops of the line serving in India or on other stations abroad, the whole of this force is at home, and available, as far as its organization permits, for the defense of the Kingdom, so you will perceive that there are in Great Britain 430,000 men enrolled under various titles for military service, besides an augmentation of 20,000 regular troops, which was voted at the last Parliament was proroguing. This raises the total to 450,000. If all these were effective soldiers, which I am not, the proportion of them to the Prussian force would be enough to meet all possible requirements. Suppose the extremities of war called for the detach of the regular army, or the greater portion of it to foreign parts, this might take away say 100,000 men and would still leave an army of 350,000 men, or as powerful a force, numerically, as France sent into the field at the beginning of the present war. This force comprises the militia, which is organized on the model of the line, and is 135,000 strong, the army reserves, which include 17,000 enrolled pensioners, the yeomanry cavalry numbering about 17,000, and the volunteers 170,000.

I think England with her army and vast navy is equal to any emergency that may occur on the other side, and I have not the shadow of doubt she will be able to maintain that supremacy in European affairs which she has ever been able to command, and I feel sure that after looking over the official figures as above you will perceive how ignorant of the English Army was the person who wrote the article I previously referred to. J. E. P.

[Our correspondent must be a sanguine man. The "official figures" of the French Army showed that 800,000 men could be put into the field immediately—but when they were wanted they could not be found. The same exaggeration is practiced in official circles in England. What are the militia and volunteers worth? Not a rush. The assumption that England can in these days "maintain a supremacy in European affairs," is one which few intelligent Englishmen would be deluded enough to place any faith in.]

CURRENT NOTES.

They are trying wooden pavement at Fond du Lac, Wis.

Nearly all the towns along the Hudson River are visited with fever this Autumn.

The average weekly mortality at San Francisco, Cal., last month, was seventy-three.

Gen. LEE's salary as President of the Valley Railroad does not exceed $5,000 per annum.

During the week ending on Saturday last, 1,240 men, 940 women, 4,846 boys, and 1,621 girls washed in the public baths of Philadelphia.

Kentucky wants intelligent and reliable working men who do not claim Chase as their birth-place.

The Presbyterians of Ithaca, N. Y., are considering the question of woman's right to vote in church councils.

Warwick, Western Massachusetts, at a recent town meeting, voted unanimously in favor of a return to the district school system.

A man named OLIVER DEMING was recently murdered for a drink of whisky, at Martinsville, Ind.

There is a project on foot to build a railroad from Ypsilanti, Mich., to join the Grand Trunk near Romeo, in the same State.

The new salt well at Terre Haute, Ind., although now 1,475 feet deep, is to be sunk an additional 125 feet before the brine is analyzed.

The old wooden bridges on the Hudson River Railroad between this City and Troy are being replaced by handsome iron structures.

Another surgeon has brought trouble upon his household, at Binghamton, by performing a needless operation upon a boy.

Alderman EGAN's action in preventing the Germans at New-Haven from celebrating the victories of King WILLIAM, is sustained by a public meeting.

Another death by the mistake of a druggist has just occurred at Chicago. The victim was Mrs. KIRKE, the wife of a respectable citizen.

Two brothers-in-law, colored, recently mortally wounded each other at Louisville, Ky., during a struggle which originated in one of them attempting to whip the niece of the other.

There are 5,000 Friends in Iowa. Among that number two only were reported as having indulged in the vice or habit of swearing during the year past.

The body of a young man, who was last seen alive in a questionable locality at Savannah, Ga., was recently found riddled with bullets.

Three members of a circus troupe lately performing at Lebanon, Ind., carried off wives with them when leaving the town. The courtship had only lasted two days.

A colored man residing at Louisville, Ky., recently drove his black wife from the house and replaced her with a white woman, without having resort to the vulgar method of procuring a divorce.

A growing youth of Ripley County, Ind., challenges the State to produce a boy or man who will eat with him for $200 a side. He takes more than one pound weight of beef-steak at a mouthful.

A young lady at Moline, Ill., who had failed to marry the young man of her choice, wrapped a shawl about her head, the other night, and threw herself under the wheels of a railroad car. She was instantly killed.

One of the wagons running to and from the Fair ground near Indianapolis recently, was labeled as follows:

"TO THE FAIR GROUNDS."
"TO THE FAIR GROUND."

MARTIN HARRIS, one of the men who saw the angel giving JOE SMITH the Book of Mormon, now resides at Kirtland, Ohio, and is in his eighty-eighth year. He still holds to the faith.

WILLIAM B. WHITAKER, a carpenter of Sangerties, N. Y., was recently bitten by a rabid cur, and died of hydrophobia in a few days afterward. He had to be tied to the bed with a rope.

An ungrateful son at Cincinnati, a few weeks since, gave out that his mother was insane, and had her removed to a pauper lunatic asylum. It now appears that she was not insane, and he is being brought to the right about by the authorities.

A gentleman residing at Utica declares that on a recent occasion, while walking along the track of the New-York Central Railroad, he was struck by the cow-catcher, thrown into the air, and caught in coming down by the fireman, who held him fast until the engine was stopped.

A New-Orleans exchange says that the girls of that city are admired at all the Springs for their beauty and that style which is the never-failing index of good breeding and gentle birth. It requires some such inducement to enable young men to brave the perils of yellow-fever.

A sneak thief at Chicago, recently, in his attempt to escape, fell a distance of fifty feet, and coming in contact with a door, burst a hole through it with his head. Beyond a slight dizziness he suffered no further inconvenience from the fall.

An adventurer named HORNBECK died some time since in California, leaving $500,000 worth of property for distribution among poor relatives at Rondout, in this State, and $200,000 for his servants. He left this City mysteriously twenty-five years ago, with little more than enough money to pay a steerage passage.

The people of Canandaigua, in this State, have curious customs. They seldom remove their residences, and there is scarcely one householder who does not feel that he is in duty bound to keep from one to five speckled dogs. The importance of the man is rated according to the number of these animals he owns.

A colored man named JOHN RICE was recently executed at Prince Frederick, Md., for a nameless crime. He ate heartily a short time before the rope was adjusted about his neck, and at the last moment showed no sign of fear save that of a slight nervous twitching of the muscles of the jaws. He struggled with death for nearly twenty minutes.

Rev. Mr. EIGHTMEYER, formerly pastor of a brick church at Brunswick, in this State, is not satisfied with the notoriety he achieved some time since by his conduct toward certain matrons of his congregation. He still keeps up a running fire with the Troy papers. The Whig suggests that he ought to change his name to "Wrongmeyer," and remove to a more congenial neighborhood.

A Springfield, Ill., exchange tells the story of a furlorn local preacher in that district whose aggregate income from all sources last year only footed up one curry-comb, a keg of varmint, and two dozen clothes-pins.

A man named MARTIN CONNOR was recently shot at Galesburg, Ill., by his sister-in-law while in the act of taking revenge on her abused husband for circulating evil reports.

Omaha, in order to be up with the times, which is to try the Nicolson pavement. Before doing so we should advise the Mayor to have the views of some responsible person in Chicago on the subject.

Smoking in bed has been long regarded as a very dangerous practice, even among men, but when women indulge in the habit it is still more dangerous. A married woman named BOYCE was burned to death a few nights since at Albany from this cause. She dropped her pipe upon the bed-covering in the absence of her husband, who only returned in time to convey her charred remains from the room.

A lady at Omaha, who had separated from her husband in consequence of some misunderstanding, took a novel way of bringing him to terms. She carried off a favorite horse and buggy. He tried to have her arrested for larceny, but finding that he could not do it, followed after her to the house of an uncle, and there had to make a handsome settlement before she would consent to restore the property and ride home with him.

A novel scene was witnessed on the fashionable promenade of Cincinnati a few evenings since. A young man of fashionable appearance was walking with a young and beautiful girl, the daughter of an industrious mechanic, when said mechanic suddenly turned up before them with a short rattan, and caned the actor of a wealthy house about the head and face until he was passed recognition by his most intimate friends.

NEW-JERSEY STATE FAIR.

A Fine Display—The Races Yesterday.

The twelfth annual Fair of the New-Jersey Agricultural Society commenced a four days' meeting on the State grounds at Waverley, Wednesday. The day was all that could be desired—clear, cool, delightful. As soon as the gates were opened goods for exhibition and competition began to arrive, and the tide continued during the day. With the exception of the afternoon trots, the day was mostly devoid of interest. The display of fruit is very fine. The best display of fruit, raised in the State, is being exhibited by the Middlesex County Farmers' Club. HART & SONS, of New-Brunswick, show thirty-one varieties of apples and eight varieties of pears. Their fruit is splendid. J. W. THOMPSON, of New-Brunswick, shows fifteen varieties of apples, thirty-three varieties of pears and a new seedling peach, which is very fine looking fruit. M. WHITEHEAD, of Middlesex, N. J., shows eight varieties of apples and seven of pears, and HENRY K. HOWES, the President of the Middlesex Farmers' Club, had a splendid display, which consisted of thirty-four varieties of apples, ten of peaches, five of pears, and ten of grapes. The grapes, which were of rare qualities, make in themselves a fine display. Beside the display made by New-Jersey fruit-growers, Messrs. ELWANGER & BARRY, of the Mount Hope nurseries, Rochester, N. Y., are on the grounds with forty varieties of apples, forty of pears, and a large display of plums and quinces.

Machinery and fancy articles in large quantities were arriving all day, and when they are perfectly arranged will be worthy of notice.

Yesterday the crowd was immense. It is estimated that fully 20,000 people were present, and 2,000 carriages, the most elegant of which was HELMBOLD's, of New-York, drawn by a beautiful six in hand. The principal race of the day was the conclusion of the 2:30 and 2:40 race of the day previous. A smart running race and a trot for horses which have never beaten 2:20 previous to July 1, 1870. The entire score of the 2:40 race, together with the names of the winning horses, are as follow:

CRIMINAL TRIALS.

Numerous Indictments by the Grand Jury—Sharp Sentiment of a Footpad—Tried by Judge Bedford.

During the proceedings in the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, before Judge BEDFORD, the Grand Jury presented several new indictments and were then discharged for the term. Since the commencement of their labors they have indicted 220 persons, the number being exceptionally large.

MICHAEL EDWARDS, an "ice man," pleaded guilty on an indictment in which he was accused, together with one ANDREWS, of having stolen a watch and chain of the value of $100, belonging to ROBERT ANDERSON, of No. 141 Front-street. The complainant stated that the property was abstracted from the vest-pocket of the owner while sitting asleep in the Washington Parade Ground. The act was witnessed by Lauritz Brown, of West Fourth-street, and EDWARDS was seen to throw the watch away when apprehended. On sentencing the latter, Judge BEDFORD spoke about the fact that the prisoner had been found in possession of a letter written by his accomplice, at the time of his arrest, in which he was told to use "Alderman B.," and to "fix the latter with the District-Attorney's office and see Blast," who would "fix it all right for $50." Judge BEDFORD said that he, the prisoner, was one of those who claimed to have political influence at the District-Attorney's office and at the Court, and that in order to show him the falsity of his statements he would send him to State Prison for five years.

JOHN BLOOMFIELD, colored, recently ship's cook on the United States revenue-cutter McCullock, pleaded guilty to an indictment in which he was charged with having stolen a watch and chain, worth $115, the property of HENRY BRACKMAN, of the same vessel. He was sent to State Prison for four years.

MARY A. BURNS was tried on an indictment charging her, together with SARAH A. STEWART, with having stolen $1,824 worth of clothing and jewelry from EDWIN A. WILLIAMS, of No. 146 Mercer-street. The evidence was contradictory, and the jury failed to agree. SARAH A. STEWART was discharged by the Court.

JAMES LYNCH was sent to the Penitentiary for two years for an attempt at burglary in the third degree. RICHARD GRAY, FREDERICK EVERSON and JOHN STAGE, boys, pleaded guilty to burglary, and were discharged on suspended sentences, after promising to believe in the future. Sentence was also suspended in the case of SUSANNA MCCABE, guilty of grand larceny, and she was discharged, it being her first offence.

Acquittals were had in the cases of RICHARD JONES, indicted for burglary, and of CATHARINE GARRY, indicted for grand larceny.

The Court subsequently adjourned until this morning.

Proposed New Buildings.

The following new buildings have been proposed for erection in this City since the last report, and for the week ending Thursday, Sept. 22, 1870:

Unsafe Buildings.

Since the last report, and for the week ending Thursday, Sept. 22, 1870, the following buildings in this City have been reported as unsafe, in the particulars annexed, at the office of JAMES M. MCGREGOR, Superintendent of the Department of Buildings:

Building north-east corner of Seventy-third-street and Third-avenue, HENRY & HURRE owners; foundation walls seaded and sills broken. No. 201 Lewis-street, corner of Sixth-street, JOSEPH FRIEDE owner; smoke flues, floors and beams. No. 181 Washington-street, MRS. SHERWOOD owner; unsafe front wall and chimnies. No. 130 Water-street, GEO. O'CONNOR owner; unsafe chimney. Building south side of Fifty-fifth-street, 75 feet west of south-west corner of Ninth-avenue, J. MESSMORE & ALEX ALLY owners; unsafe gable, party and easterly walls. No. 121 Amity street, H. B. MELVILLE owner; unsafe westerly wall.

During Robbery on a Car by a Boy.

Yesterday afternoon, as Mrs. ESTHER SCHLESSINGER, of No. 103 First-avenue, was riding down-town in a Third-avenue car, she was suddenly assaulted by GEORGE HILTON, aged fifteen, of No. 303 Prince-street, who seized a handkerchief she carried in her hand, which contained $2,000 in United States bonds and money. As soon as the lady recovered from her astonishment, she uttered a piercing scream and announced her loss. The sudden departure of the daring thief from the car attracted the notice of Mr. EDWARD W. THOMAS, a son of Capt. THOMAS, of the City Hall Police, who, hearing the alarm, seized young HILTON, and retained possession of his prisoner. The boy then endeavored to patch up his case by handing back his plunder to the owner. Mr. THOMAS, although a volunteer policeman, failed to release his prisoner, and marched him over to his father's Station-house, where he was searched and subsequently arraigned before Justice HOGAN, who held him for further examination. The robbery was a very daring one, and Mr. THOMAS deserves praise for his prompt action.

The Dental Convention—Third Day—Final Session.

The Dental Convention held its final session yesterday, at Room No. 24 Cooper Institute, beginning at 10 A. M. The President, Dr. JOHN G. ASMLEN, occupied the chair. The proceedings were opened by Dr. RICH, of New-York, who continued his remarks with regard to "Contour Fillings," which were much to the same purport as those made by him on Wednesday evening. The next subject, "Artificial Dentistry," was then taken up, but the discussion of the subject was not prolonged. Dr. RICH gave a synopsis of his manner of keeping a record of dental operations, which was listened to with much interest. The Convention then elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Dr. JOHN G. ASMLEN, of New-York; Vice-Presidents, Dr. J. S. LATHROP of New-York; Secretary and Treasurer, Dr. J. H. SMITH, of New-Haven, Conn.; Corresponding Secretary, Dr. W. E. HURD, of Brooklyn; E. D. Dr. ASMLEN, the President, thanked the Convention for re-electing him, and thanking the members for the success of the annual meetings, from which much good had already resulted, and more might be confidently expected.

The Chairman of the Committee on Improvements and Appliances presented for inspection a copy of DARRINGTON'S Dental Plate Register and Ledger, which he recommended highly. A paper on the "Rights of Inventors," was offered by Dr. MARSHALL, of Delaware; but it was not read, the delegates deciding that its subject was foreign to the objects of the Convention. It was then decided that the next Convention should be held at Saratoga Springs, on the second Wednesday in August, 1871. Dr. RICH spoke highly in favor of the instruments manufactured by Mr. S. S. WHITE, now being exhibited at the American Institute Fair, and offered a resolution declaring them most efficient and worthy to be recommended to the use of the profession. He subsequently withdrew it, as several delegates objected to it on the ground that the Convention should, in its aggregate capacity, make no discrimination among manufacturers.

The President was requested to appoint the officers of the Association as an Executive Committee to arrange for the next Convention; and that Committee was instructed to provide for the welcome of daily visitors during the sittings of the Association, in 1871.

The Convention then adjourned sine die.

BASE-BALL.

The Championship Contest—Mutual vs. Atlantic—The Mutuals Win the Champion Pennant—Score 10 to 4.

The Fall campaign of the ball-playing season, which opened so auspiciously this month with the grand matches between the Athletic and Mutual Clubs, culminated yesterday in the signal success of the Mutual Club, in their home-and-home game with the noted Atlantics, the holders of the whip-pennant. The event had been anticipated with great interest ever since the victory of the Mutuals over the Athletics, and as a close and exciting contest was fully expected, there was, of course, a very large gathering of spectators on the Union Grounds yesterday, despite the bad fact that the admission fee was double the usual charge. The weather was very auspicious and both clubs had their full strength, but, unluckily for the Atlantics, what with FERGUSON's sore hand and the fact that KETCHUM was embedded by sickness, they were unable to enter the field fully prepared, to sustain their high reputation or to cope successfully with the Mutuals. The latter have of date been playing a remarkably strong game.

There were more delegates from the various leading Clubs throughout the country at the match yesterday than ever before known, the professional nine of the Chicago Club and the amateur Pastime nine of Baltimore being guests of the Mutuals on the occasion.

The crowd began to collect as early as 12 o'clock, and by the hour named for the commencement of the game every available seat was occupied, the congregation on the outside being one of the largest gatherings of the "fence-peepers" ever seen at a ball match, the high tariff largely increasing the delegation of outsiders. So great was the desire to ascertain the result of the game that in order to accommodate the demand for information the telegraph company was called upon to force the grounds, and at the close of each inning the result was telegraphed direct to Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago, Boston and New-Orleans.

It will be remembered that the Atlantics won the first game of the series by a score of 15 to 13; the Mutuals the second by a score of 9 to 7, and the third game had first gone resulted in favor of the New-Yorkers by the score of 10 to 4, the totals of the three games being in their favor by 32 to 26.

The game began yesterday, shortly after 3 o'clock, the Atlantics assuming the offensive at the bat. The first inning yielded 2 runs to each nine, and the second, 1 run to the Atlantics and none to their opponents, thereby giving the Atlantics the lead by the score of 3 to 2. The next two innings yielded neither party a run, the fielding being sharp on both sides. In the fifth, however, the Mutuals added a single to their score, thereby tieing the game, which from this time clearly interesting. In the sixth innings the Mutuals secured 1 run, after blanking their opponents, and the advantage thus obtained seemed to have a demoralizing effect on the Atlantics, for afterward they only added 1 run to their score, while the Mutuals ran their total up to 10, thereby coming out of the contest victors, retaining the championship and the champion whip-pennant. This closes the championship series for 1870, as the Mutuals have won every series of games with all the other strong clubs, except the Cincinnatis, and they do not enter the championship arena. The Mutuals have yet a series to contest with the Haymakers, but that game does not affect the championship status. We append the full score:

Fultons vs. Chelsea, at Troy.

TROY, N.Y., Sept. 22.—A game of base-ball, between the Putnam, of this city, and the Chelsea, of Brooklyn, Base-Ball Clubs, played here today, resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 23 to 8.

Brooklyn Fire Department—Annual Report of the Secretary.

The following is the annual report of the Secretary of the Brooklyn Fire Department:

There have been in the Department as members of companies 225 men, or a movable membership of 8 over and above the regular allotment. The number of members having families is 100.

RECAPITULATION.

REPAIRS.

The figures given are for six months from Jan. 1, 1870, and upon the average of each company's expenses, the gross sum per year for engines would be $2,021 20, and for trucks $1,868 44, or $19 37 per week for the former, and $35 93 for the latter. The ratio of cost for the number of fires, viz: 148, during the period stated, would be for engines $30 48, and for trucks $13 61.

SUPPLIES.

During the year the engines have averaged each for supplies $51 34, and the trucks $36 27, or per week for the former ninety-eight cents, and for the latter seventy-three cents. These figures do not include the first outfit of the companies, but simply such articles of general supply as were furnished weekly on requisitions. The following table shows the cost of supplies for each company during the past twelve months:

Engine 1	$44 [illegible]	Engine 11	$27 [illegible]
Engine 2	50 [illegible]	Engine 12	42 [illegible]
Engine 3	50 [illegible]	Engine 13	70 [illegible]
Engine 4	36 [illegible]	Engine 14	30 [illegible]
Engine 5	33 [illegible]	Truck 1	36 [illegible]
Engine 6	34 [illegible]	Truck 2	31 [illegible]
Engine 7	34 [illegible]	Truck 3	32 [illegible]
Engine 8	34 [illegible]	Truck 4	32 [illegible]
Engine 9	36 [illegible]	Truck 5	32 [illegible]
Engine 10	26 [illegible]	Truck 6	37 [illegible]

TRIALS.

The total number of charges preferred against members is eighty-four, upon which fifty-three trials have been had, and convictions with punishments as follows: Fined, 24; fined and reprimanded, 3; reprimanded, 9; expelled, 8; complaint dismissed, 3; advised by President, 7.

FIRES.

From Oct. 1, 1869, to July 1, 1870, there have been reported by the proper officers 178 fires, being twenty-five below the average of the past five years, with an estimated loss of $236,815. The following table shows the amount of work done during the year by each apparatus:

	Days.	Hours.	Min.
Engine 1	1	9	30
Engine 2	1	1	30
Engine 3	2	6	45
Engine 4	2	4	30
Engine 5	1	6	45
Engine 6	2	8	45
Engine 7	1	1	30

The report of the surgeon shows that during the entire year there has been but sixty-three cases of sickness from all causes, and there were but eighteen accidents.

Department of Docks—Repairing Piers.

The Commissioners of the Department of Docks, at their meeting yesterday, adopted a resolution directing the Engineer-in-Chief to prepare a plan for repairing or rebuilding the pier at the foot of Fifty-ninth-street, North River, and to report whether it could be completed before the Winter set in. A report was received from Superintendent WERTEBAKER, in reply to a communication of the Board, stating that the piles driven at the foot of One Hundred and Fourteenth-street, Harlem River, did not interfere with the navigation, but obstructed the pier adjoining. It was referred to the Executive Committee. A report on the condition of the pier at the foot of Seventy-seventh-street was read, and a recommendation for its repair at an expense not exceeding $3,000 was unanimously adopted. A communication from JAMES BOYD was read, proposing to sell the pier and ground at the foot of One Hundred and Fourteenth-street, Harlem River, for $3,000, and after a short discussion was referred to the Executive Committee. A resolution was adopted granting permission to the Union Ferry Company to rebuild Pier No. 16 East River, at their own expense, under the direction of the Superintendent of the Board. A petition for the repair of the pier at the foot of Charles-street, North River, was refused. After disposing of some minor business, the Department adjourned.

A House Divided Against Itself—Trouble in the African Union M. E. Church.

In the case of The African Union M. E. Church vs. PETER F. PORTER and others, Trustees, a motion was made yesterday before Chief-Judge DALY, sitting in the Common Pleas, Special Term, for an injunction against the trustees, to restrain them from taking down the inscription-stone on the front of the church and altering it, or otherwise interfering with the government of the church.

Mr. GRESCOM, in his statement on behalf of the motion, said the trustees had attempted to change the name of the church from the African Union to the American Union, contrary to the will and rights of the members of the church, and had gone so far as to remove the inscription stone, and only put it back when compelled by law, in the nature of an action of replevin. He admitted that the defendants were regularly elected trustees in March last, but asserted that at a subsequent meeting, the members of the Church voted them out, and filled their places by others. It was further claimed that the defendants had usurped the office for change in discipline of the church, and that they have been unfaithful to their trust, and since their removal by a vote of the congregation, have neither performed the duties of trustees nor have they allowed their successors to do so, nor have they given any satisfactory account of the manner in which they have disposed of the church funds.

In reply the defendants claim to have been regularly elected at the annual meeting, and presented to the Court through their counsel an affidavit that they had never been regularly removed from office, and, therefore, had a right to exercise the powers of their office, which included the act against which the injunction was sought.

Chief-Judge DALY said he would take the papers and reserve his decision, but in the meantime he advised them to settle the matter among themselves, as the decision would be a technical one, and would be made on mere technical grounds, and would, perhaps, only add fuel to the flame.

Crimes and Casualties.

A coffin containing the skeleton of an infant was found yesterday by some laborers excavating in the yard of No. 71 Laurens-street. Coroner ROLLINS will make an examination in the case.

JOHN KRAMER, of No. 59 Pearl-street, aged fifteen, and a German cigar maker, was arrested, yesterday, on a charge of having effected a felonious entrance into the store of MICHAEL COHEN, at No. 163 Chatham-street, by forcing open a rear shutter, carrying off a quantity of clothing and jewelry valued at $50. The accused was caught in the act of escaping, and Judge HOGAN committed him for trial at the General Sessions.

JAMES LAWS, alias Charles Williams, a native of Massachusetts, was brought into the Tombs Police Court, yesterday, charged with having robbed MICHAEL WELSH, errand boy for Isabok & Co., of No. 29 Leonard-street, of five dozen caps, valued at $45. He accosted the messenger in Broadway and requested him to go on an errand, handing him a letter bearing a fictitious address, and relinquishing to hold the goods for the boy while he went. Of course when MICHAEL came back he failed to find the prisoner, who was, however, subsequently secured by the Police. The property was fortunately recovered, as the fellow dropped it when pursued. Justice HOGAN held LAWS for trial in default of $1,000 bail.

MORTIMER TAGGERT, of No. 197 Baxter-street, aged fifteen, was arraigned before Justice HOGAN, yesterday, at the Tombs, on a charge of having stolen a quantity of legal tender notes valued at $300, the property of BARNEY CLARET, while residing with the latter. The stolen money had been left in a safe, the key having been deposited on the top. When Mrs. CLARET returned home she found the key in the safe lock, and as the prisoner was the only person who had access to the room, he was arrested. TAGGERT was, on the evidence, fully committed for trial.

JOHN WELSH, a native of Ireland, a tailor, residing at No. 56 Chestnut-street, was arrested, yesterday, for a felonious assault upon THOMAS WELSH, of No. 18 Oak-street, upon whose person he used an ice-pick, and severely wounded him in the arm. The prisoner was remanded for trial at the General Sessions.

Severe Sentence of a Highway Robber by Judge Bedford.

At the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, THOMAS FEATHERSTON, a thermometer maker, aged seventeen years, pleaded guilty of robbery on an indictment, in which he was jointly charged with two other young men, named DENNIS O'NEILL and WILLIAM MUSGRAVE, with having waylaid CHARLES KROLGER, of No. 331 Hudson-street, in Houston-street, at a late hour, and with having taken his watch and chain, worth $100, previously knocking him down. It is stated that highway robbers and garroters were again becoming numerous in this City, and that he hoped to suppress them by punishing all who were convicted before him in a severe manner. He then sent FEATHERSTON to State Prison for twelve years and six months.

THE JURISDICTION OF THE COMMON PLEAS OVER FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.

Payne vs. The Audenreid Improvement and Coal Company.—This action, which was reported some days ago, was brought to recover $10,000 alleged to be due to the plaintiff from the defendant, for commissions on the sale of lands in Pennsylvania. Soon after the service of the subpœna in the action, the defendant moved to set the same aside on the grounds that the service was improperly made, and that the Court had no jurisdiction of the defendant, for other reasons than it is a foreign corporation. The following is the opinion of the Court just given denying the motion:

J. F. DALY, J.—The defendant moves to set aside and vacate the summons and all the proceedings herein, on the grounds that the Court has not jurisdiction of the defendant nor of the action, and that the service of the summons was not made in the manner in the manner prescribed by law. The defendant is a foreign corporation, created by and organized under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania; the defendant has not property in this State, no office nor place of business in this State, carries on no business in this State, and no money or property is due defendant from any person in this State. The defendant's counsel claims, however, that the cause of action arose in this State. The summons (without the complaint) was served on George H. Potts, on Aug. 8, 1870, in the City of New-York. Mr. Potts is a director of the defendant, has an office for the transaction of his individual business in this City, but resides in New-Jersey. The defendant appears in the action for the purpose of making this motion. The jurisdiction of the Court of Common Pleas for the City and County of New-York, extends to actions against corporations created by or under the laws of any foreign State, Government or country upon any cause of action arising in the State of New-York. This Court, having jurisdiction of the action, the plaintiff has the right to bring the action, and to must upon it by service of a summons, which must be made in the manner prescribed by the Code, upon a director of a foreign corporation when the cause of action arose in this State. The plaintiff has substantially followed the Code, and the summons has been properly served. The motion must be denied.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE WAR.

Our London correspondent telegraphs that the Tours report of the recognition of the Provisional Government by England is doubted there, and that Great Britain will await the action of the Constituent Assembly before taking any step in the matter. The belief is held that no negotiations for peace will succeed until military events about Paris take a decisive turn. According to another dispatch from London the design of the Prussians in negotiating is to cause delay, in order to secure the possession of Paris. The London Standard of yesterday says, the negotiations between M. FAVRE and Count BISMARCK are progressing hopefully, the details being under discussion after the arrangement of the general principles. Another London journal says the only question discussed yet is as to who can ratify a treaty on the French side. Lyons is spoken of as a temporary capital of France. The Provisional Government is resolved to repress the excesses of the "Reds." A questionable announcement is made in London, that NAPOLEON intends to issue a manifesto, and that the French Senate is to meet at Limoges. The Count DE LA GUERONNIERE, recently returned from Constantinople, was arrested at Marseilles, and afterward released by order of the Government.

According to our special dispatch from London, today, the members of the Provisional Government at Tours are entirely separated from Paris. They are, however, in accord with the great cities France in the determination not to be bound by the action of the capital should the garrison capitulate.

A London dispatch enumerates the engagements already fought in the vicinity of the French capital. On the 17th, it says, a brigade of Prussians defeated several battalions of French, north of the wood of Brevannes; on the 18th a sharp skirmish occurred at Vitry, and on Monday, the 19th, the French were driven from their intrenchments at Retray with the loss of seven guns. A body of Gardes Mobile near Versailles captured a number of Prussians whose protection had been solicited by the inhabitants. The occupation of Mantes-sur-Seine by Prussian cavalry who made a requisition is announced. Fighting near Paris is reported to be in progress with varying successes, but no important engagement has yet been fought. The reported occupation of Orleans by the Germans is not confirmed.

Advices from Mundelsheme state that lunette No. 52, of Strasbourg, was taken by the Prussians yesterday, with slight loss. Five guns were captured in lunette No. 53, which was taken on Wednesday. The London journals of yesterday contain telegrams to the effect that the Prussians had abandoned the siege of Toul and were marching to join the army near Paris. Letters from Metz, picked up at Fennetrange, reiterate the statement that the garrison is well supplied with provisions, the morale excellent. Gen. BURNSIDE left London, yesterday, for Paris, with letters from the Prussian Minister in London, which he hopes will enable him to pass the lines of both armies. Cargoes of cotton, and other goods, sent to Havre to avoid falling into the hands of the Prussians, have been shipped from that port for Liverpool, and vessels are still loading with such goods in Havre. The fortifications at Lille are completely armed, and munitions of war and provisions in immense quantities are stored there. The French clergy are making strenuous efforts in favor of national defence. Specie payments at Havre have been suspended by official notice. Bombay dispatches expect that the German corvette Medusa, and the French corvette Duplein, had made arrangements for a naval duel, to be fought in Japanese waters. A French squadron passed Bismore, yesterday, from the south.

GENERAL EUROPEAN NEWS.

The Papal Legion has been sent to Civita Vecchia, to await transportation to their several countries. The Italian loss in taking Rome was trifling. The people of Italy are, everywhere, jubilant over the occupation of the capital. The Catholic Powers of Europe have communicated to the Pope their readiness to contribute their quota for the maintenance of the Roman See. A plebiscitum is to be taken to determine whether Rome shall be the capital of Italy.

Mr. TOWSON, of the Liverpool Marine Board, read a paper before the Association for the Advancement of Science, proving that the Cambria adhered to the "great circle sailing" and was superbly navigated.... The new British iron-clad Helicopter has just concluded her trial trip, and the result is said to be entirely satisfactory. She carried a twenty-five-ton gun.... Fresh complications between Russia and Turkey are reported and a war between those two Powers is regarded as probable.

GENERAL.

The Nevada Republican State Convention, on Wednesday, nominated F. A. TRITLE for Governor; J. S. SYMMON, Judge of the Supreme Court; LEW. WIRIS, Treasurer; W. W. HOBART, Controller; JAMES D. MINOR, Secretary of State; and WM. CAMPBELL, Attorney-General.

The population of Washington is 109,338, and that of the District of Columbia 131,369.

JOSEPH H. DANIELS, of Peabody, Mass., is under arrest for attempting to poison his mother-in-law.

Yesterday was the third day of the Centenary meeting of Universalists at Gloucester, Mass. Conference meetings and commemorative services were held, and an able discourse was delivered by Hon. ISRAEL WASHBURN on "Our Church and our Work." Addresses were made by Mrs. LIVERMORE, Rev. E. E. HALE and others. The closing address was made by Rev Dr. E. H. CHAPIN.

A grocery-store on Pleasant-street, Boston, was burned, on Wednesday night. The loss amounted to $5,000.

The steamer Edinburgh, running from Cincinnati to New-Orleans, struck a snag at Island Number Ten, on Wednesday night, and sunk.

The oil works of HENRY EYDER, at New-Bedford, were burned, on Wednesday night, involving a loss of $40,000.

The Republican State Convention of Virginia met at Richmond, yesterday.

At the session of the Grand Lodge of Odd-fellows, at Baltimore, yesterday, a variety of applications and reports were received, and a good deal of miscellaneous business transacted. The organization of asylums for the aged and schools for orphans were among the recommendations.

Messrs. DUNHAM & THAYER, publishers of the Boston Times, have been prosecuted for libel by Mr. J. W. SIMONTON, Agent of the Associated Press.

The earnings of the Central Pacific Railroad for the first fifteen days of September amounted to $122,558.

The pay-master of SCHOENBERGER'S iron-mill at Pittsburg, Penn., was knocked down and robbed of $21,000 on Wednesday, and within twenty-four hours CYRUS ADAMS, the perpetrator of the deed, was in the Penitentiary on a sentence of twenty-four years.

The Nassau Boat Club of this City beat the Schuylkill Club of Philadelphia, in a race at the latter place, yesterday.

The Putnam Base-ball Club, of Troy, beat the Chelsea Club, of Brooklyn, yesterday, by a score of 22 to 8.

Gen. W. A. C. RYAN, of Cuba, is stopping at Niagara Falls.

Judge BLATCHFORD has decided in the case of HENRY R. DIBBLE, JOHN J. KRAUSS and DAVID P. BUCKLEY, bankrupts, that an involuntary bankrupt receiving a discharge has a right to recover from his estate any disbursements necessarily incurred by him pending the proceedings.

The Grand Jury of the Court of General Sessions finished their business yesterday afternoon. During the session, they found 220 bills, the largest number ever found by any Grand Jury during a single term. They were discharged with the thanks of the Court.

Mr. Tilden as the Slave of the "Ring."

There could hardly be a better illustration of the uselessness of expecting anything in the way of amendment, either as regards its own affairs or the affairs of the nation, from the Democratic Party, than is afforded by the part played by Mr. SAMUEL J. TILDEN at the late Democratic Convention at Rochester. Mr. TILDEN is just the kind of Democrat to whom one would look, either for active exertions in the purification of the party, or the total abandonment of it as soon as its purification seemed hopeless. He is a lawyer of high standing and character, a man of large property, and heavily concerned in various great commercial interests; and he received his political training in the school of Democrats to which VAN BUREN and MARCY belonged, long before it was ever thought possible that the Government of the State or City of New-York could ever fall into the hands of ignorant thieves. Moreover, we have excellent reason for believing that nobody can be more sensible than he is of the danger and disgrace of the present Democratic régime. He is as much disgusted with the City Government as any of us, and probably knows more of its horrors than most of us; he cannot have lived and labored in the earlier days of the Democratic Party in this State without being troubled beyond measure by the character of the men who now lead in its councils. He knows that they cheat, and lie, and steal, and he knows that they rely for the perpetuation of their power on the fidelity and exertions of jail-birds,—and on the perpetration of frauds, such as, until lately, only jail-birds were guilty of. We venture to assert that he is disgusted with these monstrous abuses; that he would not venture to defend the rule now exercised in this City by the Tammany General Committee in any private room. He would not venture to tell any gentleman of his acquaintance, face to face, that the whole concern was not an abomination, or assert that the men who manage it were fit for any position of trust. Consequently, anybody who expected the Democratic Party to reform itself, to provide from its own ranks the means of clearing it of its abuses, would naturally and inevitably fix on Mr. TILDEN as the man who would probably head the new movement. He would certainly fix on him as a man who, if he found no change for the better possible, would be sure either to quit the party, or at least to withdraw all public countenance from it, and to refuse to take a prominent part in its deliberations.

Nevertheless, Mr. TILDEN—such as we see him and knew him—was one of the most prominent performers in the late farce at Rochester. He is Chairman of the State Committee, and thus has more to do than any one else with the working of the machine. He knows that the Tammany Committee really supplies all the steam, and that the State Committee is only a sham; that he, its Chairman, is only an ornamental [illegible] and that whatever he does has to be done subject to the approbation of WILLIAM M. TWEED. So far from being disgusted with his position, he seemed to delight in it. He not only went to Rochester, but he delivered the speech of the occasion, and had his watch stolen by one of the minor members of the party.

And now what was his speech about? The abuses in the administration of the City Government; the frauds at the elections; the condition of the Courts; the shocking prostration of the Executive and the Judiciary before the confederates of the Erie Ring? Mr. TILDEN knows what these things are. He is a lawyer, and an able and honest one, and we know he is shocked and disgusted by the history of the Erie Railroad Company during the past two years, and by the part played in it by the Executive and the Judiciary. We know, too, that he is shocked and disgusted by the condition of the municipal administration, and he knows that it is generally believed that the Democratic Party alone is responsible for it all. The speech was, then, no doubt, as an innocent stranger would presume, either an exhortation to the party to clear itself of all complicity in, or responsibility for, these abominations, or an attempt to show that it was really not responsible for them. But the innocent stranger would, if he thought so, find himself considerably mistaken. The speech was, of all things in the world, about Federal "centralization." He says we are drifting toward it rapidly, awfully, and perhaps before long we shall be forced to add, inevitably; and centralism, he says, means "imperialism;" and as it is the Republican Party which is doing the centralizing, unless it can be stopped somehow in its course, we shall find ourselves before long in the condition of "the down-trodden masses" of France and Prussia, or Russia, but especially of Prussia. It is the Prussian people he had most in his eye when he uttered his discourse. It is they who furnish the awful warning. If they could get Berlin ruled by TWEED and SWEENY, and the Kingdom at large by HOFFMAN, FISK, Jr., GOULD & Co., he thinks they might come to something, if it be not already too late. At all events, if we keep on as we are going, we shall, before long, have "imperialism,"—that is, the United States will be converted into an empire like France, but it will, it seems, according to Mr. TILDEN, have a system like that of Prussia. We shall all have to serve either in a standing army, or in reserves, or in a landwehr. War will be declared and peace made by the Emperor at Washington. When he calls us out we shall have to march and fight; and Mr. TILDEN justly calls attention to the lavish expenditure of life and treasure in which our despot will probably indulge, when he finds he has got us and our resources completely in his hands. In fact, he will not care how many of us are killed, provided he gains his ends against the other despot whom he happens to be fighting.

We suppose no reasonable man entertains the slightest doubt that the City and State could be rescued from their present deplorable condition if the respectable men of the Democratic Party chose to make the effort. How little chance there is of their making it may be guessed from this performance of Mr. TILDEN'S. When, in the present posture of our affairs, an old lawyer of his standing gets up, and at a political convention warns us against the Prussian military system and the French Cæsarism, and says nothing of Tammany Hall—is shocked by King WILLIAM and BISMARCK, and isn't at all troubled by TWEED, or SWEENY, or O'BRIEN, or BARNARD, or HOFFMAN—it is quite evident that honest men must find some other way of political salvation than the Democracy can offer us. It is evident, too, that the Democracy is every day losing more and more rapidly all semblance to a political organization, and assuming more and more the character of a simple band of plunderers. Indeed, their holding a "Convention" is already almost an insult to the intelligence of the people of the State. Even the Greek brigands are obliged to hold their "Conventions" in holes and corners, and dare not come down to Athens to preach morality.

A Few Annotations on Gov. Hoffman's Speech.

Gov. HOFFMAN was serenaded at Albany after the formal proceedings at Rochester, and he thanked his admirers in a short speech, which we published yesterday. Some portions of the address were a little obscure as they originally stood, but their meaning will be rendered clear with the aid of a little explanation.

In the first place, the Governor congratulated his hearers on the fact that there were no warring factions at Rochester. The reason is that the "free Democracy" carefully suppress warring factions. They either use violence, or resort to measures which no section of the Republican Party would tolerate, for the purpose of preventing anything resembling difference of opinion. In this way they "bulked" the Young Democracy—composed of men who have been of no little help to Tammany in past times.

There are no clashing interests. No; and for a very good reason. Mr. TWEED and his confederates take good care that no interests inside the Democratic Party shall have much chance but their own. The chief of the Rochesters will not allow his followers to dictate how the spoils shall be divided.

The Convention came from the people. It did, with the contempt of the people for being the blind and obedient tools of men like TWEED and SWEENY. It was a Convention which repeated parrot-like its lessons, and which Mr. TWEED held in the hollow of his hands. We need not say what color these hands are, for everybody knows—including Mr. TWEED'S constant supporters.

No administration controlled it. That is quite true, for there is "no administration" at present existing which would condescend to have anything to do with a slavish convention like that which assembled at Rochester to do the bidding of an infamous "Ring." Mr. TWEED and Mr. SWEENY controlled the Rochester Convention, and that single fact ought to be sufficient to condemn it in the eyes of all honest men. The professional bribers and plunderers, who have amassed large fortunes at the expense of the public, took good care that none but themselves should have any hand in the Rochester Convention.

Its delegates have not been influenced by the promise of office. Perhaps not—some of them are already pretty well provided for. But when suborned votes were needed, Mr. TWEED knew well enough how to get them.

Never has our party presented a more solid front. "Brazen" would have been a more appropriate word than "solid" in this sentence. There is nothing solid about the Democratic Party in this State. It is based upon rottenness and corruption, and one day it will come tumbling down, like the house built upon the sands. We hope and believe that the public will help to deal it a fatal blow next November. Let them remember what Mr. TWEED and his friends have already done, and consider that the re-election of Gov. HOFFMAN will only give the corrupt crew a new lease of power. That reflection ought to keep every decent citizen from voting for the Democratic ticket.

Humanity on the Battle-Field.

It is one of the compensations of the terrible European War, that it has made obvious to the world the practicability of the scheme presented a few years since in the Convention held at Geneva, for the relief of the wounded on battle-fields. After a great battle, as is well known, no possible surgical and medical system of a public nature can suffice to even temporarily relieve the wounded. Thousands die of thirst and fever, thousands bleed to death, numbers perish because the needed surgical operation cannot be performed. Take such a battle as that of Borodino, for instance, where seventy thousand dead and wounded lay on the field, or one-third of all the combatants engaged;—how utterly impracticable it must have been to relieve even half of the sufferers. But the recent battles before Metz were even more destructive. On those bloody fields and heights there lay, a few days since, ninety thousand killed and wounded of the French and German armies—the latter thrown entirely on the German medical staff, as the French could not encumber themselves with their own wounded.

The Prussian medical department, like all branches of the army, is most liberally and carefully provided for. There are 200 surgeons with every corps of 23,000 men, beside nurses, dressers, assistants, and the like. The provision is said to be double that which our own armies enjoyed in the Civil War, well provided as they were. They can immediately take charge of and relieve after a great battle, 20,000 wounded. Yet, with this liberal preparation, the Prussian authorities had in the end of August at one time 180,000 wounded on their hands; a great array of bleeding, maimed, bruised and sick human beings. Their arrangements for forwarding and distributing this unfortunate multitude are said to be unsurpassed in modern military annals. There are public depots for the wounded everywhere, from the Moselle to Silesia. In one week, twenty thousand were comfortably transported through Mayence. The trains literally groan with this miserable freight, day after day, on all the German roads. Everywhere also private charity comes forward to help; supplies poor in from village and city; ladies labor as nurses, peasants bring the labor of their hands and all classes give money, until it is said that in all the great German Fatherland, from the Baltic to the Bavarian Alps, there is not a household which is not doing something in this work of humanity.

But even all this—so vast and fearful is the misery—is not enough, and the most important work of the campaign is done by the branches of the Association whose Convention we alluded to above. This Association, by the terms of the agreement entered into by nearly all civilized nations, are permitted to send their ambulances, wagons and assistants, under their banner, (a white ground with a red cross,) through both lines. Neither belligerent is permitted to injure or capture them, though it may, under certain necessities of the campaign, detain them temporarily. Through all the terrible carnage, these humble messengers of mercy under the red cross have been carrying relief in both armies to the wounded and dying, lighting up the lurid horrors of the battle-field with the purer light of humanity and brotherly kindness.

Whenever the medical system of both armies has broken down, these private workers have stepped in and brought medicines, bandages, surgeons, ambulances and nurses to thousands of poor sufferers, until the red cross has become a banner of hope to the French and German wounded. Nearly all civilized nations have joined in this blessed work of humanity. The English have subscribed $300,000 in money, and $300,000 in material, and their branch opened a hospital near the seat of war under the charge of the Health Officer of the Privy Council, the celebrated Dr. SIMON. The Belgian, Swiss, Italian and even Russian branches of the "International Society for the relief of the wounded," are fully engaged in these works of mercy on the German frontiers. Austria, which, along with the United States, had refused to join the Convention, after the battle of Sadowa saw among her own wounded, the merciful working of the Society, and has now sent her branch to unite in these efforts of humanity.

The French wounded need the labors of the Society even more than the German, for, like every other department under the decayed Empire, the Medical and Surgical Department has completely broken down, while vast numbers of the French wounded have fallen into the hands of the enemy. In Metz alone, there are said to be twenty thousand wounded at this time, suffering also from disease and hunger.

We rejoice to hear that the American branch of this most admirable Society has had a meeting in New-York, under the auspices of some of our most trustworthy citizens, who are now about to make an effort to have America represented in the best work of humanity of the nineteenth century. Our political ideas have penetrated Europe. It seems but fitting that our benefaccence should be equally felt. The Germans and French in this country have worked liberally for the European wounded. Now the Americans themselves will make an effort for this humane object, through a fitting instrumentality, "the American Branch of the Society for the Relief of the Wounded on the Battle-fields."

Putting Off the Evil Day.

"This is not the proper time to discuss the issues of the campaign," said Gov. HOFFMAN to his friends after Wednesday's renomination. The Rochester Convention promulgated, in effect, the same declaration. Its managers proceeded on the supposition that the time is not convenient for such a discussion. They knew, and Gov. HOFFMAN knows, what differences it would develop, what antagonisms it would establish, what estrangements it would produce, if it were begun. It was bad enough to be obliged to shut the doors in the face of the Young Democracy. What would have been the result had the moderates who favor acquiescence in the Republican work of the last few years, undertaken to discuss matters with the extremists, who wish to undo all that has been done? What would have become of the desired "harmony," had the Democrats who urge the maintenance, unsullied, of the public credit, entered into debate with the Democrats who cherish the idea of repudiation? The full consequences of either event cannot be predicted. This is certain—there would have been a grand fight, lasting, nobody knows how long, with a chance of ending not altogether pleasantly for the present ticket. To this extent, undoubtedly, Gov. HOFFMAN is right. A discussion of the issues of the campaign was not prudent on Wednesday.

But these issues must be discussed. Unpleasant and inconvenient to the Democratic Party, still the discussion must come off. The State expects to hear both sides before passing judgment in November. The Republicans are ready to begin now. Gen. WOODFORD waits but for Gov. HOFFMAN'S announcement of his readiness to participate in the discussion, to make a start. Will the Democratic candidate be good enough to state when in his opinion "the proper time" will be reached? When will he be prepared to assist in presenting the pros and cons of those important issues which on Wednesday he was afraid even to mention? Time presses. The people wait. Gov. HOFFMAN and his backers may imagine that they can evade critical questions, and escape awkward complications, by confining their eloquence to abuse of the Republican Party. They will be disappointed. There must be discussion, not evasion.

The national issues are broad and many, and the Democratic candidates will be required to meet them. Are they mild after the manner of the World, or "red hot" after the style of PENDLETON and his Democrat? Are they for accepting the results of the war, or for reversing them? Are they for keeping alive senseless and angry quarrels, or for accepting the Republican conditions of peace? Then as to State affairs, issues present themselves on every side. Gov. HOFFMAN'S connection with the Erie scandal too closely affects the purity of his office to be withheld from critical examination. The extent to which he profited by the election frauds, which converted defeat into victory, is a subject for consideration. The treachery and trickery of the Democrats in the last session of the Legislature, and the extravagance which their party have introduced into the canal management, are matters that will not be overlooked. Above all, Gov. HOFFMAN and his associates on the ticket, as representatives of the party, will be held responsible before the State for the infamies and iniquities of Tammany—for a City Government which has systematized robbery, put a premium on perjury, corrupted the administration of justice, and covered the name of New-York with opprobrium and disgrace. These are some of the issues which enter into the campaign, and discussed they will be, whether Gov. HOFFMAN deems this the proper time for the discussion or not.

Women in the Forum.

Of all the novel pursuits to which women have been led under the inspiration of progress, or whatever other agency has lured them from familiar, if homely ways, of kitchen and nursery, the law seems the one best adapted to their abilities and most promising of ultimate distinction. In the ministry they seem a trifle out of place. In medicine they seem to have a better claim, for they are natural born nurses and apothecaries. But here, again, there may be difficulties, which we need not dwell on, but which are no less patent now than when MARGARET BRANDT found them insurmountable in the days of The Cloister and the Hearth. For services in war, women have always been shown to possess a special aptitude.

But in law the main thing, in common cases, is to talk, and the last word often turns the balance of victory. There a woman finds herself at home, and it must be a dexterous weaver of words who will overcome her in the management of her chosen weapon. She has precedent, too, to uphold her; for, not to mention Portia, most winning of advocates, albeit only a lovely vision, there was HORTENSIA, the Miss Cornelia, shall we say, of CICERO'S day, a vivid and vigorous reality, who held her own with the ablest jurists of the forum. In the Court-room, too, so long as her sisters do not claim the right to monopolize bench and jury-box, her charms will be a help and not a hindrance. A melting glance will do more to convince a wavering juryman than the most elaborate argument; a smile will avert, perhaps, an adverse ruling; and, as in the days of PERICLES, learning and law will fall before the eloquence of beauty.

With all these advantages, it is somewhat surprising that the legal profession has attracted so few from the enlightened champions of progressive womanhood. Miss LEMMA BARKALOO, we believe, was admitted to all the privileges of the St. Louis Bar, and her late associates have just been passing resolutions of mourning for her untimely demise. Miss PERSIS COBBERS was said to be in training for the same goal, but seems to have been enticed away by the allurements of Scrooia, and the glitter of suffrage meetings. Mrs. MORRIS, who is a Justice of the Peace in Colorado, doubtless dispenses more justice than law. Mrs. MYRA P. BRADWELL is trying to be a lawyer in Chicago, but cannot get herself admitted to practice before the unchivalric Judges of the Illinois courts. She has taken up her case, however, to the Supreme Court in appeal, and may yet be the Hortensia of the West. So far as we know, this completes the list of acknowledged aspirants for forensic honors in the United States. Why the number should be so small we are at a loss to understand. Of female doctors and divines, brokers and barbers, politicians and publicists and editors, we have not a few; only of the one career which seems to offer them greater results than all of these, they seem unaccountably regardless. Perhaps it is too soon to look for so thorough an emancipation from elder superstitions as any general movement of women to jurisprudence would betoken. Or it may be that the mania of muscularity has seized them, too, and that they are bent now on rivaling men not in mental, but in physical greatness; not in learning, but in skill with the oar, in fleetness of foot, or even in what is pre-eminently termed the manly art. The Wilkie Collins of the next generation may find it necessary to write a novel to control the biceps of the Anne Silvesters, and not of the Geoffrey Delamayns.

People who drive in the Park, or who enter a place of amusement, are familiar enough with the sight of a vulgarly-dressed man looking like the proprietor of a circus or of a gambling den—his shirt-front covered with jewels which are in reality the property of widows and orphans. This man is generally accompanied by a companion still more dissolute than himself—if that be possible; for, to appear in public with abandoned persons is one of his favorite methods of proving how little he cares for public opinion. And yet the person who makes these displays is one of the Tweed "Ring," and has before now compelled Gov. HOFFMAN to play into his hands. He is known to be a man who has systematically outraged those principles which ordinarily form the basis of reputable conduct. Yet he is fawned upon by many for his ill-acquired wealth, and the public are invited to vote next November for the continuance of the system of which he is the author. What will be the response to that invitation? It would be a sorrowful proof of the decline of public morals if any reasonable doubt could be entertained on that point.

The Express complains of something or other we have said about Gov. HOFFMAN. It refers to the Governor's "upright career and watchful eye upon the interests of our great State." This is one of those simple matters about which a few words are as good as ten thousand. Did Gov. HOFFMAN sign the Erie Railway bill? Was he not perfectly aware at the time he signed it that the bill was designed to cheat honest citizens out of their own? Is not Gov. HOFFMAN the tool of TWEED & Co.?—the most corrupt clique of "politicians" which ever yet cursed this or any other country. Let the Express answer these plain questions frankly, if it can.

Mr. SAMUEL TILDEN must have thought it a very ungrateful act on the part of one of his political friends to pick his pocket of a watch. And yet this that only followed the example set him by his superiors. He did on a small scale what the leaders of Tammany are constantly doing on a large scale. He stole a watch, and the "Ring" steal the public money. The pick-pocket might have gained three or four hundred dollars by his "haul," while his political chiefs count their gains by the million. The "Ring" ought to order the release of their humble imitator.—His order would certainly be obeyed. For the rest, we take the liberty of advising Mr. TILDEN to leave his watch at home the next time he ventures among his Democratic associates. At an evening party, once, the host went up to SHERIDAN and told him his handkerchief was hanging out of his pocket. "Sir," replied SHERIDAN, "you know your company better than I do." If Mr. TILDEN had known his company, he never would have gone to the Convention with a gold watch in his pocket.

The World says: "The nominations of the Democracy at Rochester are themselves a programme." There never was a truer statement, and the programme reads as follows: "Continued peculation by TWEED, SWEENY & Co. Fresh license given to JAMES FISK, Jr.,—the man who habitually outrages public decency, and who is not afraid to show himself in public thoroughfares and theatres in the company of social outcasts. More Erie robbery, sanctioned by Gov. HOFFMAN. Heavy taxes for the benefit of the Ring." That is the chief part of the programme which the nominations at Rochester indicate.

A letter has been forwarded to this office by Mr. GEORGE CROUCH, the disinterested advocate of Erie under its present management, inclosing another from Mr. JAMES FISK, Jr. The inclosure consists of a scurrilous attack upon Mr. MARSTERS. We believe it to be a tissue of lies from beginning to end, and therefore we decline to publish it. If Mr. FISK has been wronged by Mr. MARSTERS, his proper place to seek redress is in a court of law. From all that we know of Mr. FISK, it is safe to presume that the wrong-doing is on his side, and we shall not make this journal the vehicle of his unmanly slanders. It may save Mr. FISK the trouble of sending us any more letters if he will understand that in our opinion it is a pity he cannot be suppressed as a public nuisance.

Ought not people who go to concerts to have a little mercy in the way of demanding encores? Have they any right to exact double the quantity set down in the programme? At the second concert of the "Nilsson series" almost every piece played or sung was encored. The audience was even so unreasonable as to demand the long and trying scena and aria from "Lucia" a second time. No one seemed to think of making any allowance for the weariness naturally produced by the labor of going through so difficult a piece. Besides, the encore system makes the entertainment of unreasonable length, and tires out all but those who never think they have had enough for their money. Once now and then an encore is excusable enough; but to deliberately set to work and re-demand everything set down in the programme—is not that a little too much of a good thing?

The gentleman who devised the hideous dream in Union-square modestly keeps his name concealed from the public, which is at least one creditable feature in his case. But his work ought to be carted out of the way without loss of time. It has already had a very bad effect on young children and delicate ladies. To come upon it suddenly is to experience a thrill of horror, such as Mr. Artemus Ward's "wax figure" of Judas Iscariot produced in the minds of the spectators at Utica. Poor Mr. LINCOLN ought to have been held sacred from the caricaturist. He is now made to turn a deformed back upon a sympathizing public, and a doleful face toward a candy-store, while his abominable trousers are spreading toward all points of the compass. Why this outrage upon decency and art? If the penalty of serving one's country faithfully is to have a statue like this erected to one's memory, most men will be frightened out of public life altogether.

Judge BEDFORD yesterday gave two more excellent lessons to the criminal classes. One man was proved guilty of having stolen a watch and chain—not Mr. TILDEN'S. A letter was found upon the prisoner in which he was recommended to put his case in the hands of "Alderman B." who, with the aid of "Blunt," in the District Attorney's office, would "fix it all right for $50." Judge BEDFORD sent the prisoner to jail for five years. Another man, named FRATHERSTON, found guilty of assault and robbery in the streets, was sent to the State Prison for twelve years and six months. These are excellent examples, just as the dark evenings are coming in. It is much to be wished that all our thieves, great and small, in office and out of it, could have a taste of Judge BEDFORD'S justice.

Admiral FARRAGUT'S funeral is to take place on the 1st of October. We make the announcement thus early in the hope that some prominent members of the Government may find it convenient to be present on the occasion. The British fleet at Spithead paid honor to the memory of the greatest sea captain of his age. Perhaps our own Government may by this time be convinced that he was a man worthy to be honored in every way which is customary among civilized nations.

WASHINGTON.

Minister to England—Visit of Commissioner Parker to the Indians—Republican Division in Virginia—An Indian Wanting to be Educated—Miscellaneous.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The announcement of the appointment of Senator MORRISSEY Minister to England, though not confirmed here by any official authority, nevertheless finds general credence. The appointment will probably be officially announced to-morrow.

GEN. PARKER AND THE SUPERINTENDENCIES.

Gen. PARKER, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, has gone West on a visit to the several Indian superintendencies, for the purpose of seeing that the goods recently shipped from New-York are received, receipted for and distributed in good faith to the tribes for whom they have been selected. It is in the transfer of the goods from one custody to another where fraud and theft have hitherto occurred, and Gen. PARKER, having caused the goods to be selected with great care, now proposes to have them distributed with equal fidelity.

REPUBLICAN DISCORD IN VIRGINIA.

Private dispatches received here to-night bring the information that there is a split on the Congressional nomination from the First Virginia District, with little prospect of an adjustment. The Republican Convention met to-day at West Point, and nominated Dr. DANIEL M. NORTON, a colored man. Thirteen white delegates withdrew and nominated Dr. WILLIAM M. DOUGLASS, of Richmond County, formerly a surgeon in the Confederate Army.

AN INDIAN WANTS EDUCATION.

A young Ute Indian recently made his way from Fort Bridger to Washington, and asked to be educated. The circumstance coming to the attention of Hon. WM. H. DODGE, he has made arrangements to send the young Indian to Lincoln University, Oxford, Penn., and if he proves worthy, Mr. DODGE intends to give him a collegiate education.

AN OFFICIAL ON THE STUMP.

Mr. ALLISON, Register of the Treasury, leaves for Pennsylvania to speak in some of the more closely contested Congressional Districts, especially that now represented by Mr. CHESNA. ROBERT S. CONRAD, of Louisiana, formerly Secretary of War under FILLMORE, is now here.

THE RAILROAD CASES TO BE APPEALED.

The District Attorney of Philadelphia has been instructed from the Treasury Department to appeal all the cases involved in the recent decision of Judge STRONG, to the Supreme Court of the United States.

VICTORIA MINES.

Official advices from the Secretary of mines of the Colony of Victoria, Australia, to the General Land Office here, show a decline in the gold production of the colony, of 1869, from that of the previous year.

POPULATION OF WASHINGTON.

The population of this city is shown by the census, which is just completed, to be 109,338. The total enumeration for the District of Columbia is 131,369, an increase since 1860 of seventy-nine per cent.

MOVEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT.

A letter received here today states that the President will leave Long Branch on Tuesday next, for Cambridge, Mass., where he will place his son at school, and will then visit Concord, N. H., where Miss NELLIE will attend school. From there the President will return to Long Branch, and on Friday evening of next week will start on his return to this city. Gen. BABCOCK, one of the President's Secretaries, has returned to Washington. Senator CARPENTER, of Wisconsin, arrived this morning.

REDUCTION OF TAXES.

Hon. SAMUEL RANDALL, as Chairman of the National Democratic Congressional Committee, having called upon Hon. JAMES BROOKS, as a member of the Ways and Means Committee, to reply to the "Reduction of Taxes" circular issued by Hon. HENRY WILSON as Chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, he has published that reply. Mr. BROOKS states that the reduction is not as much by thirty or forty millions as the Democrats would have made it in power; that what reduction has been made in the tariff has been in the interest of capital rather than of labor, and that the Senator of Massachusetts may well be content with it, while the West and South cannot be, as the reductions have all been made in the capital interests of Massachusetts. Those allegations are fortified by statistical tables. Mr. WILSON will doubtless reply.

CUSTOM RECEIPTS.

The customs receipts for the week ending Sept. 17, 1870, were as follows:

New-York	$2,324,[illegible]
Boston	108,[illegible]
Philadelphia	122,[illegible]
Baltimore	260,707
San Francisco, for the week ending Aug. 20	203,[illegible]
From Aug. 20 to Aug. 27	125,191
Total	$2,601,[illegible]

UNIVERSALIST CENTENNARY.

A City of Tents—Strength and Condition of the Church—Centenary Offerings—Proposed Ritual—State of the Schools and Colleges.

From Our Special Correspondent.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Tuesday Evening, Sept. 20, 1870.

The gathering at Gloucester still continues, every train bringing large contributions to the crowd. The hotels are crammed, the private houses are overrun, and the tents can contain no more, and where the hundreds now unprovided for are to be sheltered on this cold September night is a momentous question. On a beautiful meadow, nearly a mile from the city and on the beach, from whence we counted this morning sixty sails, is erected the big tent where the Convention has held its session this afternoon. Around this large tent has been thrown up a city of tents, the streets of which have been named after the well-known and revered names of those faithful ministers who have died in the cause. As we write, the songs of the enthusiastic followers of MURRAY can be heard across the cape mingling with the steady, deep undertone of the surf that flows in among the rocks near this improvised city. The songs are not unlike those that arise from the camp-meetings of the Methodists, but are somewhat more subdued. The prayers are frequent and fervent, and consist mostly of hearty thanksgiving, rather than of appeals and warnings.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE CONVENTION.

The Convention assembled in the morning at the Universalist Church, and was called to order by the President of the last Convention, Rev. JOHN G. BARTHOLOMEW. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. HAZARD HARTSELL, of Albany, N. Y. At the roll-call responses were made by delegates from nearly every Northern and Western State. A Committee was appointed on Permanent Organization, who reported the name of Hon. SIDNEY PERHAM, Governor-elect of Maine, as President. Gov. PERHAM, on being conducted to the chair, returned thanks for the honor conferred, congratulated the Convention on the brilliant prospects of the denomination, and closed briefly its mission and aim. But little business was transacted at the morning session. At 12 o'clock an adjournment was had until 2 P. M., to meet in the big tent. Among the distinguished persons present and participating in the deliberations of the Convention were Hon. HORACE GREELEY, Rev. Dr. CHAPIN, Dr. E. G. BROOKS, Dr. MINES and Dr. FISK.

FINANCIAL STATUS OF THE DENOMINATION.

In the afternoon the Convention assembled in the tent, and reports were received and read from the Board of Trustees, the Permanent Treasurer, the Committee on the Missionary Army and the General Secretary. The latter report was a very able document, and was received with great furor by the Convention. Rev. Dr. ABA SAXE, the Secretary, made an important statement of the financial status of the denomination, which is deemed an authoritative declaration to the world of the strength and condition of the Church; church property of the denomination, $5,000,000; property and investments of schools and colleges, $1,882,000. His report shows that there has been raised in the last year in subscriptions and centenary offerings the munificent sum of $846,987. Thirteen thousand missionary boxes have been distributed during the past year; returns have been received from ten thousand, giving an aggregate of $10,830 61 from this seemingly insignificant source alone. The missionary box is to be a permanent institution, and it is expected that fifteen thousand dollars will be received annually from this energetic. After the reading of the reports, Hon. HORACE GREELEY offered the following:

Resolved, As the judgment of this Convention, that the Murray fund should be raised to the full amount of $200,000 before our efforts in its behalf are relaxed. It should never be forgotten, that it was this fund that it should be sacredly set apart as the foundation of a Universalist Publishing Company, after the general plan of the Methodist Book Concern.

Mr. GREELEY supported his resolution in a brief and pertinent speech. At the conclusion of which it was referred to a standing committee, and the Convention adjourned to meet at the Universalist Church to-morrow at 8 A. M. Mr. GREELEY's resolution will arouse earnest discussion, but will hardly be adopted.

CENTENARY OFFERINGS.

It appears from the Secretary's report that the State which has pledged and raised the largest sum for the Murray fund is Massachusetts. The State which has raised the most for educational purposes is Ohio. The State which has raised most, above its quota, is Minnesota; that gallant young State in the far north-west, which, as Dr. SAXE enthusiastically expressed it with true Prussian energy, in the space of three weeks, had ended the centenary campaign in a blaze of glory. The individual who had made the largest centenary offering is a noble-hearted citizen of Akron, Ohio, who has contributed $21,000 to Buchtel College. The large sum pledged in so brief a time, indicates that the Church is one of large pecuniary resources and commendable generosity. Certainly a Church that can add to its working capital in a single year the sum of $1,000,000 must be animated by an abiding faith that it ought to live, and an invincible determination that it shall live until the end for which it was called into existence is accomplished. The significance of this result is, as Dr. SAXE tersely expressed it, an announcement to all the world that the denomination is here, and that it has come to stay.

A RITUAL TO BE ADOPTED.

The Committee on the State of the Church unanimously reported in favor of the adoption of a simple, uniform, and fervent ritual—a ritual that should receive the infant in consecration, should train him for Christian manhood, welcome him into the "communion of faithful souls," and welcome him at every crisis of life. There is a strong feeling among many of the members of the Convention in favorable to the adoption of the recommendation, but the majority will hesitate in indulging in adopting the modes of worship so long exclusively appropriated by the Episcopal friends; they prefer to be original—or nothing.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Committee on Education, in a very concise report, give a very satisfactory exhibit of the state of the schools. They report five colleges, two Theological and seven preparatory schools, with assets amounting in all to two millions, and an attendance of two thousand pupils. The Committee recommend the founding of new schools, especially preparatory schools, and the complete endowment and equipment of existing institutions. ...The ladies are here in large numbers, and their prophets are with them. Mrs. MARY A. LIVERMORE, by far the ablest public speaker representing her sex in this country, is to occupy this large tent this afternoon. Her reputation is indubitably established in and around Boston as an eloquent, fervid orator, and a noble, consecrated woman; and, if critical Boston indorses an orator, certainly the untutored must accept the verdict. H.

Third and Closing Day—Interesting Services—Addresses by Hon. Samuel Washburn, Mrs. Livermore, Dr. Chapin, E. E. Hale and Others.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 22.—The morning session of the Council, today, was spent in discussing the amendments proposed by the Board of Trustees, which were finally adopted. A vote was passed by which the Murray fund is to be invested by the Board of Trustees for the work of this Convention, and the Board can make no appropriation of the money nearing without a vote of the Convention. Rev. H. R. PULLMAN, of Illinois, was elected as the preacher of occasional sermon for next year, with Rev. CHAS. SPENCER, of Connecticut, as alternate. The next Convention will be held in Philadelphia, September, 1871. Conference meetings were held in the various churches and in the large tent. At 9 A. M. services were held in the old Murray meeting-house, led by Rev. A. C. THOMAS, of Pennsylvania. This church was built in 1776 and dedicated on Christmas Day. The original dimensions were 45 by 45 feet. The old Bible used by Mr. MURRAY (Edinburgh, 1770, edition) was exhibited. Prayer was made by Rev. ELI BALLOU, of Vermont. The responsive service was by Rev. Mr. THOMAS and the people. Following this was the service at the grave of Rev. THOMAS JONES, Mr. MURRAY's successor. A touching reference was made to Rev. Mr. LEONARD, of the Annisquam Congregationalist, who converted his congregation to the Universalist faith. Here also a responsive service was used by Rev. Mr. THOMAS and twelve clergymen.

ADDRESS BY HON. ISRAEL WA. ISBURN.

At 10½ o'clock, an immense congregation assembled in the large tent. Hundreds could not find space to stand. After devotional services, Hon. ISRAEL WASHBURN was called to the chair, and in a brief and compact speech was one of the grandest of the week. "Our Church and Our Work" was his theme. "We are not a Protestant Church," he said. "Ours is an original, independent Church, cased in ideas purely its own. We see things which are more vigorous than existings in the religious world. There is only one error and one truth. Our Church rests on the great idea of God's unlimited love. All other Churches believe in God's love limited, and there must be antagonism between us and them, which we must supplant and conquer. God's love and truth are omnipotent and eternal. The masses were not prepared for this Church until 1770, and from that date its growth has been gradual, and healthful, and constant." He called on every man holding "our faith" to grow and live by his conviction in a Church where Bankrupcism had the hardest work for reparation upon earth. The choir and congregation then sang "Hail Columbia."

ADDRESS BY MRS. LIVERMORE.

Mrs. LIVERMORE followed in a stirring and memorable speech. A woman whom JOHN MURRAY went to convert converted him. She spoke of woman's work in the army, of the work of the women of our Church this year, and urged with care and discrimination that when the Aid Society opened, a new organization should be formed for our women, where, side by side, with men as the head and they as the heart, both can give their intellect and hearts to the building up of our Church and the redemption of the world. Let woman consecrate herself to her proper work. Christianity is the only hope of the world.

ADDRESS BY REV. J. S. DODGE.

Rev. J. S. DODGE, of Connecticut, addressed the people in a most finished and thrilling manner on the religious training of the young. The power of early impression was impressively set forth. Old ministers quote the Bible when they preach, young ministers not so much. Textual teaching merely, may avail little, but the great truth written in sacred words found in the minds of the young, may give in life's perilous and sad hours, help, inspiration, comfort and peace. God is love. Let the words be written on the walls of every church and burned in every child's heart. We must imitate the old Catholic Church in their rough religious teachings.

A UNITARIAN VISITOR.

At this stage of the meeting Rev. EDWARD EVERETT HALE and Rev. CHARLES LOWE came upon the platform with a letter to the Convention from the officers of the National Unitarian Convention. The letter was read by the Chairman, who was glad to greet, upon this great historical occasion, these gentlemen as the representatives of another branch of the great liberal Church. The letter was received with every expression of approbation and delight.

Mr. WASHBURN introduced Rev. Mr. HALE, who, when the applause ceased, made a most noble, inspiring speech, full of noble and generous thought. Mr. HALE said it was with the most profound pleasure, and with the sincerest humility, that he uttered a single word to this assembly. The occasion, said he, is a historic one. The words 1770 are wrought in, and written in, with the history of Liberalism. The great Greek word "Catholic," which has this year attempted to assert itself, has lost much of its significance since the miserable failure at Rome. He believed in Catholicism, and it was illustrated in the American motto, E Pluribus Unum, which was a motto founded in Liberalism. He was glad of the spirit of harmony which exists between the two great liberal churches, and did not desire to insult either by asking that their histories, now written, should be forgotten. His faith was in a God of love, and so was that of all. The one true Church was Universalism. If ever America failed of its grand destiny it would be because Calvinism and Roman Catholicism were in the ascendant. If it believed that destiny, it would be because the teachings of liberal Christianity were true.

EXPENDITURES OF THE MURRAY FUND.

The next speech was by Dr. RYDER, of Chicago, on the expenditure of the Murray Fund. Dr. RYDER first reciprocated the fraternal words and sentiments of Mr. HALE, from the Unitarian body. He then passed to the topic assigned him. Every man who thinks, he said, must know that if we fit young men for the ministry, or help them to prepare for the ministry, we must have a fund for the publication of books and tracts. We must help weak churches and press on in an aggressive spirit, not taking back seats, but coming to the front, strive for the conquest of the world. Our business is to disseminate our ideas where they are not now known or believed; but we must convert Universalists into our own body and save the world. Let us be liberal, but faithful to our convictions and our Church. We have no church in California—none in Oregon. Forward is the word, and every man must fall into his place and obey orders.

The closing speech was delivered by H. B. METCALF, of Boston, on the missionary boxes, and the meeting was then adjourned till the afternoon.

CLOSING SERVICES.

The closing services took place in the afternoon. A sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. CHAPIN, of New-York, from the words, "This do in Remembrance of Me." The discourse was an inspiring production, and was appropriate to the occasion and the communion which followed. Rev. Dr. FISHER and Rev. G. W. MONTGOMERY presided at the table. The utmost order prevailed while the great congregation partook of the elements. The doxology was sung, and then the Convention closed, and the people, with sorrowful and tearful faces, bade each other farewell and then turned to their homes.

A HARVEST JUBILEE.

Joyful Scenes in a Church at Milton, N. Y.—Fruit, Flowers, Corn, Rye, Oats and Pumpkins—The Blessings of the Earth—An Autumnal Gathering.

From Our Own Correspondent.

MILTON, on the Hudson, Thursday, Sept. 22, 1870.

For the last three years the industrious and intelligent farmers of this place and vicinity have been in the habit of holding a harvest festival annually. It is an old English rite, and is observed in a religious, as well as a pastoral manner. It is a festival of a kind seldom held in this country. I have spoken of it as an English observance. I might back go further and say it was a primeval custom, for there is no clearer record of anything connected with the earlier history of man than this first desire to manifest gratitude for the abundance of the field. The observance of the festal day, this year, was held on Tuesday, in All Saints' Church, Rev. Mr. SPARKS, rector.

BEAUTIFUL ADORNMENTS.

The edifice was beautifully adorned with offerings from the forests, fields and gardens. Heads of wheat, rye, oats and barley, entwined with evergreens, festooned the windows, doors and chancel arch. Over the latter, worked in handsome green leaves, were the words,

"He visiteth the earth and blesseth it," and over the chancel window in a similar manner were the words,

"The earth is the Lord's."

The window-sills were covered with lichens, mosses and wild flowers, and wherever fruit could be placed were seen grapes, pears, peaches, apples, &c.

In the font, which was handsomely decorated, floated a beautiful cross of white flowers. Green wreaths hung upon the walls on either side of the chancel, and rich vestments lay upon the pulpit and lectern, from which were suspended baskets of magnificent fruit, and baskets of rich flowers were placed on the chancel steps, at the foot of the stalls and lectern green corn, with the ears of grain being fastened to the end of the stalls. Inside the chancel rail there were baskets of flowers and fruit. In the centre of the altar was a fine grid-iron, surmounted by a floral crown of rare beauty and perfection, on either side of which was a golden vase and basket of flowers.

THE SERVICES.

The clergymen present were Dr. JOHNSTON and Dr. SEYMOUR, of New-York City; Rev. Mr. THOMAS, Rev. Mr. APPLEGATE, of Newburgh; Rev. Mr. CRARY, of Poughkeepsie, and the resident rector, Mr. JAMES W. SPARKS. The service was full choral, commencing at 11½ A. M. The music was grand, and for it the Milton people are indebted to Rev. Mr. CRARY, of the Holy Comforter Church of Poughkeepsie, and Mr. WILKINSON, the organist, and his choir; also to Mr. H. SPARKS, former organist of Christ Church at South Amboy. Dr. SEYMOUR made the address, and it was a faultless one in every respect. Not a word was uttered but what the simplest intellect could understand—not a word but the most intellectual and cultivated could appreciate.

It was attentively listened to throughout, and was more like the old compositions of ADDISON than the rambling, frothy essays that now too often torment listeners. During the service, Rev. Mr. CRARY sung an anthem, which was much admired. The appearance of the church, lighted as it was by the mingled rays of an Autumnal sun and the off light of fifty condolabras, was a pleasing scene, long to be remembered.

FESTIVITIES.

In the afternoon the children and young grown people were entertained in a sumptuous manner, in the open air, on the grounds of Mr. C. E. STORRS, where the greatest happiness prevailed.

After nightfall all reassembled at the church, passing to seats through the main entrance, where a huge pumpkin met the view. The sermon in the evening was preached by Prof. JOHNSTON, the balance of the exercises being choral, and thus ended a beautiful Harvest festival.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theatrical.

THE DEBUT OF MME. MARIE SEEBACH.

In most languages there are epigrams to describe the condition of a man who has lost the capacity to admire. The unfortunate is represented to have impaired this power by abuse. He has been called on to exert it so much that he ends by being unable to exert it at all. His labors under a kind of esthetic surfeit, and is unable until relieved to appreciate the dainties of art any more. It is the misfortune of Mme. SEEBACH that so many of our connoisseurs are in something like this condition. They have seen so many clever people in so short a time, have been called on to enjoy, to measure, to bear witness to artistic phenomena with such unremitting industry that the edge, so to speak, may well be taken off their critical acumen, and merit go imperfectly appreciated at their hands, which, under normal conditions, would be hailed with enthusiasm. It would be intelligible, then, and excusable, were a new artist to excite only languid emotion. But to create a furor, under such circumstances, to inspire the jadest sense with freshened spirit, to infuse, as it were, an electric interest where almost stupefaction was before, is a grand achievement. Something like this Mme. SEEBACH has done, and she deserves credit for the measure in which she has done it.

The beginning of Mr. GRAU's bold enterprise was welcomed last night by a very numerous audience. The "Fourteenth-street Theatre"—it would not answer just now to have German acting in a "Theatre Français"—has not often been filled by so large and intelligent a public. It is perhaps unlucky that, owing to the piece being played almost in its proper integrity, Mme. SEEBACH was not seen until very near 10 o'clock. Attention in spite of the excellencies of the company who support her, was thus somewhat wearied, and enthusiasm possibly a trifle damped. Mme. SEEBACH was nevertheless received with much cordiality, and speedily implanted herself in the good graces of the house. She has a slight and pliant figure, exceedingly graceful action, highly expressive features, and a melodious and powerful voice. It is evident at once that Mme. SEEBACH is a thoroughly trained and experienced actress. That she may appear to greater advantage in other characters not of the vagrant type than even she appears in Margaret, seems not improbable. A first hearing, however, under existing circumstances, might easily in this and other respects mislead. Mme. SEEBACH's first scenes were marred by much delicacy and finish. Her by-play is remarkable for subtlety and variety. The mobility of her features permits an equal versatility of expression. We may add that in declamatory passages she evinces no lack either of energy or feeling.

It is not necessary to recite here the well-known story of "Faust." In many forms, operatic and other, it is as familiar to an English-speaking audience as the master-pieces of their own greatest dramatist. The great GOETHE, like SHAKESPEARE, was many-sided. He wrote not only "Faust," but the "Wahlverwandschaften." He glorified purity, and he advocated the elective affinities. He magnified the powers of the human will, and he taught that human passion follows laws as unavoidable as the constituents of a chemical mixture. He celebrated patriotism, and heard the cannon of Jena; and he listened to the honied flatteries of NAPOLEON, and accepted at the hand of that conqueror the cross of the Legion of Honor. "He rose like a star, worshiped by everybody, and especially the women," and yet was brave enough constantly to sacrifice the present to the future and to abandon a life of pleasure in favor of scientific studies. For sixty-five years his greatest work has moved the world as only the most supreme achievements of genius have ever moved it. And yet for more than a quarter of a century after the seal was thus set to his fame, GOETHE labored on as if only a common laborer in the literary vineyard, dependent on daily exertion for bread as well as renown. The versatility we speak of appears in the "Faust" as it appears perhaps in no single work save some of SHAKESPEARE's. "It appeals to all minds," says one of the shrewdest judges, "with the irresistible fascination of an eternal problem, and with the charm of endless variety. It has every element—wit, pathos, wisdom, buffoonery, mystery, melody, reverence, doubt, magic and irony. Not a chord of the lyre is unstrung, not a fibre of the heart untouched. It is at once a problem and a picture; the problem embraces all questions of vital importance; the picture represents all opinions, all sentiments, all classes moving on the stage of life."

Apart from the striking and undeniably artistic delineation of Gretchen, the dramatic picture afforded last night of this stupendous work was quite as satisfactory as could have been expected. Mr. HARRY, the Mephistopheles, is a very good actor, and Mr. DOMBROWSKI, the Faust, is at least a satisfactory one. In other particulars, the cast was respectable, and the mise-en-scene careful and complete. To those of the audience not Germans the effect of following German histrionic usages, as well as text, is in all matters of detail, was naturally somewhat singular. The propriety of such a course is, nevertheless, obvious. It is well, even for the many among us who are ignorant of the tongue, to hear "Faust" in its proper German. No other speech truly holds it more, than any except our own vernacular suits "Hamlet," or than, Dr. JOHNSON to the contrary notwithstanding, any other language than Greek so well suits the Iliad. All highly dramatic works of first-rate merit, in fact, must needs lose something by translation, and of no great play is this truer than of "Faust." Besides, it is well, we must all admit, to become familiar with the tongue which is now being carried victoriously over Western Europe, and which bids fair to take fresh root in new soils, as the Latin did of old.

We look forward with pleasure to opportunities of examining the acting of Mme. SEEBACH under circumstances more favorable to a thorough appreciation of her undoubted talents, and a deliberate record of opinion. For the present we merely repeat that this distinguished stranger was received with extreme heartiness, and during the performance was continually greeted with peals of applause and many floral tributes, and was also repeatedly called before the curtain to receive the congratulations of the public. "Faust" will be repeated to-night, and, we presume, for many evenings to come.

WOOD'S MUSEUM.

Mrs. SCOTT-SIDDONS continues to be the principal attraction at Wood's Museum, but the bill has been changed, and "As You Like It" has replaced "Twixt Ax and Crown." Mrs. SCOTT-SIDDONS' performance of Rosalind has often been noticed in these columns. It has so much of the sweetness of innocence in it that it is by all odds the most pleasing of her efforts. Mrs. SIDDONS has excellent aid from the company at Wood's, Mr. CHARLES F. THORNE, Jr., acting Orlando. We must mention that an afternoon representation is given daily at this house, so that a tour of inspection through the curiosity department will not deprive the visitor of the anticipated dramatic entertainment.

LINA EDWIN'S THEATRE.

The dreary comedy of "A Bird in the Hand," has been replaced at LINA EDWIN's Theatre, by a burlesque on "Camille." Mr. STUART ROBSON is exceedingly funny as the heroine, though the fun is by no means equal to that of his personation of Cupidon Crossbow, in "Black Eyed Susan." The rehearsal of the last-named piece can be witnessed merrily half a dozen times, thanks to the eccentricity of Mr. ROBSON's attire, voice and manner, and it is judiciously, therefore, kept before we public.

POLITICAL.

GENERAL NOTES.

A Republican County Convention will be held at Ithaca, in this State, on the 24th inst.

ALEXANDER MITCHELL has been nominated for Congress by the Democracy in the First Wisconsin District.

The Labor Reformers are growing wise. In the Cincinnati Congressional District they have ratified the Republican nomination.

The Liberal Republicans in the First St. Louis District, in Convention, today, nominated CHARLES H. JOHNSON for Congress by acclamation.

In Tennessee, this Fall, there will be a fight similar to that between STOWE and SAYLER, with this difference only—that it will be in the Democratic Party.

The Democrats of the Second Iowa Congressional District have nominated W. E. LEFFINGWELL, of Lyons. Mr. SMITH beat Mr. LEFFINGWELL by 5,000 majority two years ago.

The Winona (Minn.) Republican says: "The history of this State, as well as of every other in which the Democratic Party has ever enjoyed a season of authority, proves that it is as natural for Democratic officials to plunder the public treasury as it is for a cat to steal cream."

The Chicago Republican says: "JOHN C. BAGBY, of Bushville, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the Republican Congressional nomination in the Ninth Illinois District, announces that he will not be a candidate. Col. T. J. BELL is now spoken of."

Hon. A. S. COLYER, of Tennessee, says the Louisville Courier-Journal, has made a good deal of popularity for himself within the last few years, and it is much to be regretted that he is about to invest the whole amount in so palpable a South Sea bubble as the race against Gen. JOHN C. BROWN for Governor.

The members of the TAMMANY HALL Association of the Eighteenth Assembly District, of which Hon. MICHAEL NORTON is President, have unanimously indorsed Hon. M. T. BRENNAN for Sheriff. The organization is in an encouraging condition. Its head-quarters are at No. 760 East Fortieth-street.

Gen. A. H. PURDY, United States Assistant District-Attorney, was engaged yesterday in preparing forms of indictment, to be used in the election. It is the intention of the Government to take the most thorough measures for stopping fraudulent voting, fraudulent registration and fraudulent naturalization.

The Chicago Tribune says: "There is an unfortunate difficulty in the Twelfth Congressional District of that State, which, if not amicably arranged, threatens the loss of that district by the Republicans. The contest for the nomination was between Mr. JERRY BARRY and Mr. JOHN B. HAY. Mr. HAY is the present member having two years ago been elected to succeed Mr. BARRY.

The Detroit (Michigan) Tribune relates the following striking instance of ingratitude: "When Mr. STRICKLAND ran for Congress in 1868 Mr. DRIGGS took the stump for him. In 1870, Mr. DRIGGS, being the regular nominee of the Republican Party, and Mr. STRICKLAND Republican member of Congress, the latter supports Judge SUTHERLAND, the Democratic candidate."

A dispatch from Chicago, Ill., says: "In the of last probable candidates for United States Senator from this State, to be elected by the coming Legislature, Gen. LOGAN, Gov. PALMER, and Ex-Gov. OGLESBY have occupied prominent positions. It is now understood that Gov. PALMER withdrews from the contest, and the name of Ex-Gov. KOERNER has been added to the list.

CONVENTIONS.

Meeting of the Republicans of Virginia—Features of Their Platform—Nominations in Nevada—Tennessee Republican State Convention.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 22.—The Republican State Convention met this morning. One hundred and fifty delegates were present, representing every county in the State except two. JOHN A. HARMAN, of Augusta County, was chosen President. Resolutions were adopted affirming that Congress and President GRANT have redeemed their promise to the people, as the reduction of the public debt and the general prosperity of the country shows; that no true Republican of Virginia has affiliated with the Democrats, and that there can be only two parties—Democratic and Republican—in the State; expressing sympathy for people abroad struggling for liberty; declaring that the acts of the Legislature have shown that the friends of the new State Constitution cannot be realized without Republican ascendency, asking Congress to give effect to the Homestead Exemption clause of the Virginia Constitution, by amending the Bankruptcy Law, and, finally, asking Congress to pay all loyal Southerners for their property taken during the war, and for services rendered in putting a stop to the war. A plan for the Congressional campaign was adopted. Among the delegates were United States Senator LEWIS, Congressmen PORTER, and PLATER, Ex-Gov. WELLS, and Judge ALEXANDER RIVES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 22.—The Nevada Republican State Convention yesterday made the following nominations:

For Governor—F. A. THITLE.
Judge of the Supreme Court—J. S. SLAUSON.
Treasurer—LEW WIXES.
Controller—W. W. HORNEY.
Secretary of State—JAS. D. MINOR.
Attorney-General—WM. FORMAN.

The Republican nominations were completed at a later session, with THOS. FITCH, for Congress, and J. SLINGERLAND for Lieutenant-Governor. The Convention was the largest and most harmonious ever held in Nevada.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 22.—The Republican State Convention assembled at the Capitol today. HORACE MAYNARD presided. W. H. WISENER, of Bedford, was nominated for Governor by acclamation. Gen. BRIDGES made a speech in a brief speech, in which he counseled the delegates to go home and fight for their cause, and not for him. The platform declares against secession; approves the policy of the Grant Administration, declares it to be one of the objects of the American Union to protect foreigners in the exercise of civil and political rights; says the honor and credit of Tennessee must be sustained; favors thorough education of all classes; congratulates Germany upon the result of the war, while deploring its evils, and favors emigration; and the enactment of laws to invite settlers to Tennessee. The Convention was largely attended and enthusiastic.

Congressional Nominations.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—SYLVESTER MOWRY has withdrawn from the Congressional contest in Arizona, but has induced a popular citizen, PETER BRADY, to oppose McCORMICK.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The Republican Congressional Convention at Cortlandville, yesterday, nominated Hon. R. HOLLAND DUELL, of Cortland, for successor in Congress to Hon. DENNIS McCARTHY, in the Onondaga and Cortland District. The nomination was made on the first ballot by a vote of eighty-two to sixty-four. The Utica Herald, in referring to Mr. DUELL's nomination, says: "The gentleman served with distinguished credit in both the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses. He was born in Warren, Herkimer County, in 1826, is a lawyer by profession, and a man of marked ability. He will unite the party in the district, and be elected by a large majority."

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 21.—Major GEO. B. HALSTEAD was last night nominated in the Fifth District as an independent Republican candidate for Congress, in opposition to Hon. GEORGE A. HALSEY, the regular Republican nominee.

EASTON, Sept. 21.—The Democratic Convention of the Eleventh District today nominated JOHN B. STORMS, of Monroe County, for Congress, on the one hundred and sixth ballot. The Pennsylvania Republican Association of this city has canvassed the several departments and made arrangements to have every Pennsylvania voter employed here go home and vote at the October election. Owing to the closeness of some of the congressional districts, unusual pains have been taken to enlist the services of every voter and to secure from him a promise to be in his election districts at the proper time.

LOCAL POLITICS.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Woodford and Kaufman Club of the Eighteenth Assembly District.

Last evening the Soldiers' and Sailors' Woodford and Kaufman Club of the Eighteenth Assembly District held their weekly meeting at No. 453 Fourth-avenue. The meeting was well attended. WM. O. MCQUADE, the Vice-President, in the absence of the President, in a neat speech stated the objects of the meeting. The constitution and by-laws were reported by the Committee appointed at a previous meeting for that purpose, and were unanimously adopted. The Secretary read the following resolutions, which were adopted amid considerable enthusiasm:

Whereas, The Soldiers' and Sailors' Woodford and Kaufman Club of the Eighteenth Assembly District of New-York is organized for the common support of its members, and to render effective service to the Republican cause; and

Whereas, As citizens, soldiers and sailors we mean that our acts shall be in accordance with our professions; therefore,

Resolved, That we here solemnly declare that we did not offer our lives and limbs to the service of our country to be sold and bought, or should barter our civil politics; and that we did not fight to establish peace and prosperity for the whole Union, in order that the State of New-York should behold her citizen-soldiery divided into Copperheads whose pens and voices gave aid and comfort to traitors during the darkest hours of our national struggle.

Resolved, That year by year we have witnessed with alarm in the State of New-York corruptionists in civil office endangered, the course of law overwhelmed by rifling the ballot-box or a depository of worthless paper, and the election returns a perversion of the popular will.

Resolved, That the party of the Republican administration of Gen. GRANT, by President GRANT, will assuredly give the necessary security, as it has secured the unbroken peace of our Republic, and that we pledge the ballot-box against corruption in New-York, with the same loyal heart that we have ever defended the Union against rebellion.

Resolved, That we hail with enthusiasm the nomination of Gen. STEWART L. WOODFORD as the Union candidate for Governor; feeling in variety of the support of every honest New-York volunteer who wore the blue, without distinction of party, and that the soldiers and sailors of the State of New-York intend to elect him over JOHN T. HOFFMAN.

Resolved, That we hail with approval the nomination of GUSTAVUS KAUFMAN as Lieutenant-Governor, and the rest of the ticket nominated at Saratoga, and we hereby pledge ourselves to use all honorable means in our power to secure their election.

The following were appointed delegates to the Republican Central Committee: C. S. GRANT, HENRY BUTTS, Jr., and C. VAN CLEEFT. Spirited and eloquent speeches were made against Tammany corruption, and vindicating the claims of the Republican Party for popular support, were made by Col. A. J. H. DUGANNE, Col. G. W. DE COSTA, and Gen. DENIS F. BURKE. A large number of members signed the roll of the organization, after which the meeting adjourned.

Tenth Assembly District Woodford and Kaufman Campaign Club.

An adjourned meeting of the Tenth Assembly District Union Republican Association was held at head-quarters, No. 305 Bowery, Wednesday evening, for the purpose of organizing a Woodford and Kaufman Campaign Club. The meeting was attended by over 200 persons, many of whom were Germans, who declared their intention to throw off the yoke of modern "Democracy," and use all exertion to roll up such a majority for the Republican ticket at the end of the present campaign that the Democratic Party can never hope to overcome it until they abandon their present leaders and are officered by men who advocate the public good.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. MARTIN R. BROWN, who stated the object of the call. The following permanent officers were chosen: Capt. ELI TAYLOR, Chairman; WASHINGTON VAN WICKLE, and JOHN GERRAN, Vice-Chairmen; THOMAS MAGUIRE and ELISHA KREBBER, Secretaries; and MARTIN R. BROWN, Treasurer. Two hundred and seventeen members were enrolled. The meeting was addressed by STEPHEN H. KNAPP, M. R. BROWN, Col. BENJAMIN WILLIS, and others, who spoke at length, and urged the Republicans of the district to use energy during the present campaign to place the State of New-York in the hands of the Republican Party. The meeting then adjourned, subsequently organized a Woodford and Kaufman Club, and the State and the State ticket, and voting to meet at the same place, on Thursday evening, Sept. 29, when several prominent speakers are expected to address the meeting.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Woodford and Kaufman Club of the Eleventh Assembly District.

The soldiers and sailors of the Eleventh Assembly District, who served in the late war, organized a Woodford and Kaufman Campaign Club, last evening, at No. 80 Eighth-avenue. Mr. JAMES A. CHERRITH was elected President; Messrs. STEPHEN GOLDING and MAX BACHARACH, Vice-Presidents; Secretary, THOMAS KENNELLY; Corresponding Secretary, JAMES MCCOWAN. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That this Club cordially indorses the action of the Saratoga Convention, in nominating Gen. STEWART L. WOODFORD for Governor, and SIGISMUND KAUFMAN for Lieutenant-Governor, and declares itself to be unconditional support of the entire ticket.

Resolved, That in STEWART L. WOODFORD we recognize the gallant soldier and statesman whose eminent qualifications are a guarantee for the faithful discharge of the duties devolving upon the State Executive.

Resolved, That in the election of SIGISMUND KAUFMAN we recognize a pure-minded statesman, and a true and tried friend of the soldier.

Resolved, That the soldiers and sailors who have stood side by side to suppress rebellion and violence, will during the coming campaign stand shoulder to shoulder for the maintenance of the Union and protection of freed at the ballot-box, and will guard with their lives and fortunes the sanctity of the national honor.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Woodford Club No. 2.

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Woodford Club No. 2 held a meeting last evening, at No. 116 Centre-street. There was a large attendance, and the proceedings were characterized by the greatest enthusiasm. The objects of the Association are to procure for the defenders of the country a proper and merited recognition of their claims upon the gratitude of the nation whose integrity they had risked their lives to preserve and to co-operate in the efforts now being made to guard the purity of the ballot-box. Mr. AUGUSTUS BUCKHARD made a spirited address, in which he urged that it was the duty of all patriotic citizens to aid the perpetuation of republican institutions to do all in their power to put an end to repeating, and in fact all kinds of fraudulent voting. The frauds practiced in New-York at the last election had brought disgrace upon the city and state. He hoped that the efforts about to be made to secure a fair vote in New-York would be crowned with success—a result in which all good citizens and sincere lovers of democratic institutions would find just cause for rejoicing. Mr. BUCKHARD's remarks elicited great enthusiasm and frequent applause.

Eighth Assembly District German Republicans.

The German Republicans of the Eighth Assembly District met last evening at the Tenth Ward Hotel, corner of Broome and Forsyth streets, and organized a Woodford and Kaufman Campaign Club. Mr. WM. GELLIGAN was elected President of the Association. Delegates were selected to represent the Club at the meetings of the German Central Woodford and Kaufman Club, after which the meeting adjourned.

The Kings County Democracy—A Little Trouble at Home.

The delegates from Brooklyn to the State Convention got back to their homes yesterday morning in pretty decent condition, the only exception being Mr. FUREY, who looked rather beaten out. BILLY DE WITT, as the Corporation Counsel is familiarly called, was also around, but strange to say, despite his eloquent "blow off" in the Convention, his appearance did not excite anything approaching to enthusiasm around the City Hall. Indeed, the mayoralty, McLAUGHLIN among the rest, visited him as soon as he had got well seated in his office and pitched into him generally for accepting the temporary Chairmanship of the Convention. By his action they contended that they had been placed before the public as supporters of candidates in opposition to the Young Democracy, a thing they did not wish to see. The force of this remark is the more striking when it is remembered that in the City of Brooklyn, at the present time, there is a movement on foot which threatens to do more harm to the Ring there than even the opposition have accomplished against Tweed & Co. in New-York. Mr. DE WITT, it is stated, wished to explain his position, but he became all his efforts to explain them, and that "BILLY" had simply been played like a card by TWEEDY. Apart from this little feature in the affair the only thing also worthy of note is the condition of the delegates and their friends was that they, almost to a man, were religiously drunk. It is, however, evident that the election of the least ticket in the one and only thing now troubling the "Ring" at the present time.

Jacob Cohen's Tammany Hall Reform Association.

A society calling itself the Tammany Hall Reform, Benevolent and Protective Association met last evening at No. 220 Third-avenue. This Association, as its name indicates, is organized for benevolent and charitable purposes. The officers are: JACOB COHEN, President; WILLIAM HINES, Secretary, and THOS. VARCHAX, Treasurer. They have some $15,000 in their Treasury, which is used to assist the members of the society, when sick or in needy circumstances. A resolution was adopted, pledging support to the nominees of the Tammany Hall Democratic Reform Party, irrespective of politics. Speeches were made by Messrs. FITZGERALD, ISAACS, DELMAGE and SABARAT in the German and English languages.

Political Brevities.

The colored men of the Thirteenth Ward, Brooklyn, E. D., organized a Woodford and Kaufman Campaign Club, Wednesday evening, with W. C. H. CURTIS, President, and A. CORTNEW, Secretary.

The Hudson County, New-Jersey, Republican Convention met yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in Cooper's Hall, Jersey City. N. J. MONTT was made the nominee for Sheriff. GEO. GRAVEREAUX for Surrogate, and Messrs. MADDEN, LOWENTHAL and MANDER were selected as candidates for Coroners.

A large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held on Wednesday at HENRY MILLER'S, East New-York. A number of patriotic speeches were delivered. The veteran one-armed soldier, Capt. MILLER, and the popular Adjutant of Post No. 26, G. A. R., H. A. W. FORD, reminded the old army and sailors for their comrade, STEWART L. WOODFORD, Citizens and veteran Republicans of the Ninth Ward, on the November ballot. The following officers were elected: Capt. EDWARD MILLER, President; Lieut. JOHN BROGGAN, 2d Vice-President; Mr. DANIEL SUSS, second Vice-President; Capt. GEO. H. CRAWFORD, Secretary; Ad

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Great disappointment was manifested, yesterday, (Sept. 22,) at the Exchange, owing to the further postponement of the sale of the leasehold property in Fifth-avenue known as the Glenham Hotel. It having been previously announced that the sale would in all probability take place, a large number of interested parties were in attendance, and everything indicated that a lively competition would ensue, should the property be offered. The day now fixed for its disposition is Oct. 19. The only transaction effected was by ROBERTS & McCOMB, and that a foreclosure sale, by order of the Supreme Court, under the direction of JOSEPH H. DUKES, Esq., Referee. The property disposed of consisted of a plot of ground on the west side of Third-avenue, 26 feet 5 inches north of Eighty-eighth street, containing four full lots, with a frontage of 100 feet on the avenue. The mortgage foreclosed amounted to about $11,000. The plot was sold entire, and the first bid was $20,000. From this point the price advanced until the premises were finally struck off to Mr. JAMES KING for $28,200. When the fact is considered that it was a cash sale, the price, it will be seen, was a remarkably good one. The following sale was postponed by the same auctioneers to the date appended: Lots on Twenty-seventh-street, 200 feet east of Second-avenue, Oct. 6. E. F. RAYMOND also again postponed the sale of the lots on Fifty-first-street, between First and Second avenues, noticed for yesterday, until Thursday next, the 29th inst. It is to be regretted that postponements in the sale of property at the Exchange, if once noticed for a particular day, should be so frequent. In many cases the delay is, of course, unavoidable, but auctioneers would find it greatly to their advantage, should those interested in real estate be assured that when once advertised a sale would certainly take place.

Today there is but little prospect of any activity at the Exchange. At 10 o'clock this morning B. P. FAIRCHILD, at the vestibule of the City Hall, will sell all the buildings and parts of buildings, as taken by the Commissioner of Estimate and Assessment appointed by the Supreme Court for the extension of Lexington-avenue, from Seventy-first to Ninety-second-street, in this City. The transaction will be an interesting one. In Brooklyn, at noon, at No. 370 Fulton-street, COLE & MURPHY will dispose of the property referred to yesterday, located on St. Felix and Raymond streets. These will complete the principal transaction of the day.

Particular attention is called to the advertisement in our auction column of DINGEE, KETCHAM & Co., of the property to be sold on Thursday of next week, situated near Mamaroneck, in Westchester County. Few better opportunities are presented for the consideration of those who desire to invest in country property.

NOTICE TO TRAVELERS.
Families or gentlemen going to travel on the Continent of Europe, who may desire the services of a courier, should never leave Paris without one; their services are invaluable to a stranger or a traveler from another city in the errands and trouble respecting passports, examination and conveyance of luggage; in securing the best accommodations, in protecting the traveler from imposition and in saving much money, and in saving them from the annoyance to which they are exposed in various parts of the Continent. Competent and trustworthy couriers and traveling servants may always be obtained by applying to the COURIER SOCIETY, No. 8 Rue d'Alger, near the Tuileries Garden, Paris.

FINANCIAL.

8 per Cent. Interest
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold.

The First Mortgage Eight Per Cent. Gold Bonds of the ST. JOSEPH AND DENVER CITY RAILROAD COMPANY are for sale by the undersigned. Price, 97½ and Interest. The amount of Bonds issued is $1,500,000 on 111 miles of road, of which 80 miles are completed, and the grading of the balance finished, while the iron and materials are on the track to complete it.

This road, completed and about being finished, together with rolling-stock, lands, property of every description, and franchise, is mortgaged to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company in trust for the security of these bonds. This property has a value much than double the amount of this mortgage. The net earnings of the Company are constantly on the increase, and are in excess of the amount required to pay the interest on these bonds. The payment of the interest and principal is therefore fully secured. The bonds are in denominations of $1,000 and $500. Interest payable semi-annually in New-York, London or Frankfort on the Main. We unhesitatingly recommend them, and will furnish maps and pamphlets upon application.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

SUPREME COURT.—IN THE MATTER of the application of the Department of Public Parks, for and in behalf of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonality of the City of New-York, relative to opening and widening certain streets as laid out by the Commissioners of Central Park, in the City of New-York. The Department of Public Parks, in the name and in behalf of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonality of the City of New-York, pursuant to the act of the Legislature of the people of the State of New-York, entitled "An act relative to the powers and duties of the Commissioners of the Central Park," passed April 4, 1860, and of the act entitled "An act to alter the map or plan of certain portions of the City of New-York, and for the laying out and improvement of the same," passed April 24, 1867, hereby give notice that they intend to apply to the Supreme Court in the First Judicial District of the State of New-York, at a special Term of said Court, to be held before the Honorable Albert Cardozo, Justice, in the New Court-house at the City Hall, in the City of New-York, on Monday, the 10th day of October, 1870, at the opening of the Court on that day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard thereon, for the appointment of Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment in the above-entitled matter; that the nature and extent of the improvement hereby intended is the opening of Eighty-fourth-street, from Eighth-avenue to the Hudson River, as laid out by the Commissioners of the Central Park in the City of New-York.
RICHARD O'GORMAN,
Counsel to the Corporation.
Dated NEW-YORK, Sept. 10, 1870.

SUPREME COURT.—IN THE MATTER of the application of the Department of Public Parks, for and in behalf of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonality of New-York, relative to the opening of Eighty-sixth-street, from Fifth-avenue to the New Road or Drive, and from Twelfth-avenue to the Hudson River, in the City of New-York.—The Department of Public Parks, in the name and in behalf of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonality of the City of New-York, pursuant to the act of the Legislature of the people of the State of New-York, entitled "An act relative to the powers and duties of the Commissioners of the Central Park," passed April 4, 1860, and of the act entitled "An act to alter the map or plan of certain portions of the City of New-York, and for the laying out and improvement of the same," passed April 24, 1867, hereby give notice that they intend to apply to the Supreme Court in the First Judicial District of the State of New-York, at a Special Term of said Court, to be held before the Honorable Gideon Barard, Justice, in the new Court-house at the City Hall, in the City of New-York, on Friday, the seventh day of October, 1870, at the opening of the Court on that day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard thereon, for the appointment of Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment in the above-entitled matter; that the nature and extent of the improvement hereby intended is the opening of Eighty-sixth-street, from Eighth-avenue to the New Road or Drive, and from Twelfth-avenue to the Hudson River, as laid out by the Commissioners of the Central Park in the City of New-York.

POLITICAL PICK POCKETS.

The Kind of Men that Tammany Hall Sent to Rochester.

Raid of New-York Rowdies in the Rural Districts—Passengers Robbed on the Cars—Saloon-Keepers Compelled to Furnish Free Refreshments—Wholesale Arrests by the New-Jersey Police.

The Rochester Convention was attended by an immense crowd of persons of all shades of character from this City, and from the reports of hotel-keepers and merchants along the line of the road, from the telegrams detailing lawless behavior in Rochester, and from the complaints of passengers on the trains of the Erie Railway, it would appear that a large portion, at least, of the New-York "delegation" were thieves and ruffians. On their way to Rochester on Tuesday night, the roughs carried eating-houses, drinking-saloons, &c., by storm, refusing to pay for anything, and threatening violence to passengers if they interfered. At Middletown, Binghamton, Susquehanna, Elmira and other places, the complaints of swindled saloon-keepers are the same—the same lawlessness and brutality was everywhere manifested. From all accounts it appears that the march of the Democrats to their Convention was like the invasion of an army bent upon pillage and destruction. At Rochester the vast increase of the Police force by the Chief of Police prevented the roughs from taking possession of the property of the inhabitants. But few stories of violence and robbery are reported there, a fact due in great measure, doubtless, to the fears, rather than the consciences, of the thieves. On the return, however, the same lawlessness broke out that was exhibited upon the westward trip. The saloon-keepers, warned by their previous experience, locked up their places of business and gave the roughs few opportunities for plunder. But on the train robberies were frequent. Yesterday, telegrams were received from different points along the route, ordering the arrest of the thieves, and describing, as nearly as possible, the persons whose arrest was desired. The telegrams concurred in the report that passengers, delegates to the Convention and others, had been robbed openly, and by force in the cars. The Police of the cities through which the trains passed were summoned in advance by telegraph, but for some reason they generally failed to put in an appearance, or were in so small strength as to present no prospect of success against the thieves, if the latter attempted resistance. During the day a squad of policemen and detectives were sent up as far as Passaic to meet the afternoon train coming down, but they were obliged by the numbers and threatening attitude of the thieves to defer attempts to capture them until the train reached the Long Dock, Jersey City, where a large force was in waiting. Although the detectives found in each car a large crowd evidently in league with the thieves, they were unable to identify any, except a few persons either well known to the Police or guilty of some open attempt at robbery. One of these men, who was at first unsuspected, was caught by his attempt to shove one of the detectives into the corner of a car and rob him of his watch. Others were detected in open attempts to take money or watches from passengers. Upon the arrival of each train the Police "nabbed" a crowd of the roughs and conveyed them to the Second Precinct Police Station, of Jersey City. Beginning at 11 A. M., when twenty-two persons were arrested at the Bergen Tunnel, the Police captured the following persons, who were locked up for further examination:

Edward Gillespie, John McAuliff, John Wood, Edward Hanley, John T. Cassidy, Peter E. Corley, James H. Wood, John Brady, Wm. Goodman, Thos. T. Hart, Wm. Lamb, Jr., Jas. Gillen, Patrick Fitzpatrick, Francis Mullevey, Wm. H. Ingle, P. J. McGuire, Oliver Gilfeather, Christopher Roth, A. J. Hooper, Martin Kehoe, Theodore Ramming, Isaac Ramming, Michael Feeney, Patrick Reardon, Patrick Trigg.

The following were bailed:

James E. Rogers, Wm. Morton, Thomas Jolly, Wm. T. Harris, John Devlin, James Hughes. It is stated that some of these men, particularly those that presented bail, were identified as respectable citizens, and they will probably be discharged. The others will doubtless be held until formal complaints are made against them by persons who suffered robbery or violence at their hands.

Some of the number, when their names came to be put upon the Police register, gave names that were supposed to be false, but they were generally identified by the free lunch which nearly every one of the gang was supplied with. The search of their pockets also brought to light many articles beside free passes. On the persons of several of the number, watches, chains, &c., were found in such quantities as to leave little doubt that they had been stolen. The largest sum of money that any one of the gang had was $90.

The Chief of Police of Jersey City did all that could be required of him to bring the thieves to justice, but there is just a little fear that the persons by whom the telegrams were sent, will not being forward their proofs, or prosecute the prisoners. Two squads of policemen were sent from the Central Police Station to the Erie Depot early in the day, and were on hand upon the arrival of each train. The arrests were all made without any noticeable resistance on the part of the persons arrested. Upon the arrival of the train last night four persons were arrested, and at the Police office, the Chief of Police FOWLER was compelled to order his officers to make no more arrests, unless upon the complaint of some person robbed. The night train due at 10 o'clock was behind time, but the Police were in waiting at a late hour, to see what duties the arrival of the train might throw upon them.

The Farragut Obsequies—Further Preparations for the Funeral.

It is understood that if all arrangements can be completed in time, the obsequies of the late Admiral FARRAGUT will take place on the 1st of October next. Gen. ALEXANDER WEBB has been invited to act as Grand Marshal on the occasion. Up to yesterday but two replies had been received to the notification requesting sailors who served under Admiral FARRAGUT to communicate with Mr. HARDY, Clerk of the Common Council. It is intended that all such sailors shall be invited to take part in the funeral ceremonies.

A meeting of the members of the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, Commandery of the State of New-York, was held last evening at Delmonico's, corner of Fourteenth-street and Fifth-avenue, for the purpose of taking action in regard to the obsequies of their late companion and Commander, Admiral FARRAGUT. After a considerable discussion it was resolved to leave the arrangements in the hands of the Mayor and other City authorities and to the committee already appointed. A resolution formally appointing the appointment of Gen. A. S. WEBB as Grand Commander was also adopted. The Commandery approved by resolution the action of the Committee inviting the President and Cabinet to be present on the day of the obsequies. A committee was appointed to cooperate with the City authorities in regard to future arrangements.

The following gentlemen were appointed a committee to draft resolutions on the death of Admiral FARRAGUT:

Commodore A. M. Pennock, U. S. N.; Brevet Col. H. C. King, U. S. V.; Rear-Admiral Theodorus Bailey, U. S. N.; Major-Gen. Geo. W. Smith, U. S. A.; Brevet Major-Gen. George H. Sharpe, U. S. V.

A meeting of delegates from the various posts of the Grand Army of the Republic of this City was held last evening at No. 23 Third-avenue, for the purpose of making arrangements to participate in the ceremonies. Col. JOHN W. MANSHALL, Junior Vice-Commander of the Department of New-York, occupied the chair, and delivered a few appropriate remarks on the character of the deceased hero and the great services he had rendered his country. Other speakers followed, and at the conclusion of their addresses it was unanimously resolved: "That the Grand Army of the Republic take part in the obsequies of Admiral FARRAGUT." A committee was then appointed to make the necessary arrangements, after which the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the Chair. The attendance was large and all present seemed anxious to do all honor to the remains of the illustrious old chief.

The Chinese in Belleville, N. J.

The Chinese laundrymen imported for Capt. HERVEY, of Belleville, N. J., have commenced their work without opposition from any source, and to all appearances are satisfied with their new quarters. A portion only of the force of girls hitherto employed have been discharged. The services of the remainder will not be dispensed with until the Chinese have become fully acquainted with their work. Capt. HERVEY thinks that he can make more money by the employment of the Chinaman. Last year he lost $10,000 by the irregularity and incompetency of the girls. He had found it quite impossible to depend upon female labor. As soon as the girls became acquainted with the work, and able to earn the amount of money paid for their services, they would often throw up their situations. Besides the girls had a fondness for picnics which the steamboating beaches so often repaid to possess. The wages paid the coolies is also considerably less than the amount paid hitherto to the female employes.

SCHOOLS FOR COLORED PEOPLE.

Convention of Pughkeepsie—Numerous Resolutions and Interesting Addresses—Politics and Education.

From Our Own Correspondent.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Thursday, Sept. 22.

A Convention of colored people was held in Zion's Church, in this city, today, to take into consideration the political and educational interests of the colored people in the Eleventh, Twelfth and Thirteenth Congressional Districts of the State of New-York. The call for the Convention was signed by A. BOLIN, Augustus Fowler, Walker Steven, Isaac Deyo, Jacob Thomas, Garrett Deyo, and Sylvester Van Zee. The Convention was called to order at 12 o'clock, noon, by ABRAHAM BOLIN, of Poughkeepsie.

The following gentlemen were elected permanent officers: President, ISAAC DEYO, of Poughkeepsie. Vice-Presidents, Rev. JAMES THOMAS, of Orange County; ADAM STEVENS, of Stanford, Dutchess County; CHAS. MORRIS, Dutchess County. Secretaries, SAMUEL P. JONES, of Fishkill Landing; CHARLES COOLEY, of Poughkeepsie. Sergeant-at-Arms, LEONARD GREEN, of Poughkeepsie.

The President stated the object of the meeting after having first thanked the Convention for the honor conferred upon him. He said its object is educational and political. Every thinking man knows the power and necessity of education; one object is to build a school-house somewhere in Dutchess County, where we can get something more than can be obtained in the common schools. He regretted the slim attendance. In a political view the action of the Convention should be important. He wished 600 colored voters were present to talk the matter over. The Chair then appointed a Business Committee as follows: A. BOLIN, JOS. RHODES, WALKER STEVENS, GEO. RUBY, GEO. HARDENBURGH, Rev. Mr. THOMAS, of Newburg, addressed the Convention. He believed that all should attend closely to educational matters and let politics alone. The latter should not be mixed with the former. It is perhaps well enough for the colored people to let the world know how they stand upon the issues of the day, but politics should not be dragged into educational enterprises. The race had been proscribed, indignities and contempt had been hurled upon all, but with only a slight education the colored people had risen to the position they now command, free and disenfranchised. Let them study economy, avoid the intoxicating cup and win education which will cultivate and refine and make all really ladies and gentlemen. Resolve to give your children all the education possible. Why should not many young colored men of the present day be engaged in commercial pursuits? Haven't we been hewers of wood and drawers of water long enough? Haven't we blacked our master's boots and stood behind his table till our hearts are sick and sore? Now is the time to do for ourselves. Good, warm-hearted Republican friends have stood by us and our people, and by their help we are what we are today, and now it behooves us to stand by them. Let us, then, write our names high up in the niche of fame; be men; be women; be true to the right, everywhere and at all times. There must be no more indifference in our well-being. Old men cannot attain much, but I would to God that the young men of this day would shun the evil elements around them. Away with the vices, and take up with that which is honest, and aspire to greater and nobler things.

Rev. Mr. DECKER, of Newburg, made the next address. He said he had always endeavored to instruct the youth in the advantages of education. Knowledge is power, and ignorance is the mother of error. He reviewed the battlings of the black race against prejudice and tyranny, and now asked for a combination of efforts to develop all the noble outgrowths of education. Parents must teach their children the importance of instruction, and watch them closely, to the end that they may grow up and be honored.

The following resolutions were offered to the Convention by the Business Committee:

Resolved, That this Convention disconnounce any person or persons who has or will contemplate to vote the Democratic ticket, and that we agree to disregard them, and will not give any place or protection or shelter in our houses or places of business, but consider them an enemy to our race forever.

Resolved, That this Convention take a political canvass of the Eleventh, Twelfth and Thirteenth Congressional Districts, to ascertain the strength therein of the colored people.

Resolved, That we agree to build an academy, seminary or high school for the education of the colored youth, to be located within two miles of the Court-house in the City of Poughkeepsie.

Resolved, That we fully indorse the Republican State nominations, and that we will do everything in our power to elect the candidates.

Resolved, That this Convention shall appoint proper persons in each ward or district in the three Congressional Districts, to see that the colored vote is brought out.

A motion to adopt them being made and seconded, discussion followed. Rev. Mr. THOMAS opposed them, because of their political tenor. He said that the Convention met for educational purposes. He denounced the political part of the movement.

Mr. BOLIN, of Poughkeepsie, favored the resolutions. He said no oratorical displays nor harangues would amount to anything. Dutchess County means business. Mr. DECKER opposed the first resolution. He thought it was too spicy. Mr. THOMAS also opposed the first resolution, and said he was dissatisfied with his religious sentiments. Mr. DECKER again spoke very eloquently, and then the resolution referred to was stricken out and one adopted shorn of the objectionable passages. The balance of the resolutions were also adopted, including a new one authorizing the organization of a political club. Then the entire report of the Committee was adopted.

Other unimportant business was transacted, when the Convention adjourned till evening.

Reception of Hon. E. D. Bassett, the Colored Minister to Hayti.

A public "welcome home reception" was given to the United States Minister to Hayti, Hon. E. D. BASSETT, at the Cooper Institute, last evening. His Excellency, E. J. ROYE, President of the Republic of Liberia; Hon. and Rev. Mr. PRIMER, Ex-Vice-President of the Republic of Liberia; Hon. J. J. WRIGHT, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of South Carolina; Hon. J. J. SPELMAN, member of the Mississippi Legislature; A. M. POWELL, Rev. H. H. GARNETT, D. D., Gen. FREDERICK A. CONKLING, Hon. JOHN COCHRANE, Dr. A. S. THACHER, and other gentlemen were present. Rev. Dr. GARNETT presided. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. JOHN PIERPONT. The presiding officer made a short address, after which letters were read from Hon. FREDERICK DOUGLASS and GEO. T. DOWNING, regretting their inability to be present. Mr. BASSETT is the first colored man that has ever represented this country in a diplomatic position. Mr. BASSETT was introduced, and said that for sixteen months he had resided in a foreign country, as the accredited Minister of the United States. He denied the report that the President of Hayti had expressed his displeasure at his appointment on account of his color. He said that the present and the former President of the Republic had welcomed him in a very cordial and fervent manner. He referred to the Haytien civil war, and the responsibilities which were imposed on him as a Minister of peace and good-will. It was often a source of surprise to the casual observer that a people like the Haytians should be given up to the devastating influences of war. He said the climate of the country was good, and that there was room for a large increase in population. In Hayti public opinion generally found an outlet in smothered discontent and revolutionary plots. Although Romanism is the established religion of the Republic, every inhabitant is privileged to worship with the utmost freedom, according to their own views. A progressive spirit was being fostered and encouraged in Hayti, under the leadership of a few intelligent men.

Addresses were made by Messrs. A. M. POWELL, E. J. ROYE, and others, after which the assemblage dispersed.

Death of a Veteran Actor.

CHARLES T. PARSLOE, Sr., died in this City yesterday. Mr. PARSLOE was born in London, England, in June, 1804, and from early childhood has been connected with the dramatic profession. He was a celebrated pantomimist, and made his first appearance in this country as one of the stock company at the old Park Theatre in 1828. For a number of years after that he supported his line of characters with Mme. AUGUSTA, the Countess St. James. He was a member of BURTON'S Chambers-street Theatre from 1848 until 1854, when he retired from active work and organized a dramatic agency. His wife died in 1856, and he now leaves behind four sons, the only one in the profession being C. J. PARSLOE, Jr., of LISA ROSSINA. He was a member of New-York Lodge No. 330, F. and A. M., and of the American Dramatic Fund Association. The funeral services will take place on Sunday at 2 P. M. from St. Luke's Church, on Hudson-street, opposite Grove.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

NEW-YORK.

The mail steamer Merrimack, which arrived at this port on Tuesday, has been, since then, detained at Lower Quarantine. One of her cabin passengers, Miss MIRANDA, daughter of a wealthy planter at St. Thomas, died the night before the vessel reached here, of yellow fever, and hence the detention of the steamer. Numbers of the friends of those on board have, for the past two days, been waiting on the Quarantine and other piers in the vicinity anxiously looking out for the arrival, in the Upper Bay, of their friends. All on board are now well, and the Quarantine doctors expect to be able to allow the Merrimack to come up to the City today.

The Fall regatta of the Columbia Yacht Club, for the champion pennant, was held yesterday, but owing to the wind dying away entirely, soon after the race commenced, that which early promised to be a very satisfactory affair, turned out an entire failure, and the race will have to be run again. The yachts entered for the contest were the following: First-class—Dorie, 31 feet, GEORGE ROAHE; Hilda, 30 feet, JOSEPH A. WEAVER; Journeyman, 29½ feet, W. E. WIRAMS. Second-class—Rebecca, 19½ feet, JAMES SKILLAN; C. W. Gregory, 21½ feet, ANDREW MILLER; Gertie Porter, 21 feet, Judge PORTER. Third class—Gayflower, 18 feet, BENJAMIN ADAMS; Flirt, 19 feet, GEORGE BRINCK.

On the 27th inst. there will be a meeting of the members of the Gold Exchange, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of considering amendments to the by-laws, and to transact other important business. As this will be the last meeting previous to the annual election of officers, it is considered desirable that there should be a full attendance. Last year about this time the meetings of the Gold Exchange were tolerably exciting, but this one will doubtless be calm and peaceful.

The Collector of the Port was visited yesterday by a very large number of politicians, who called for the purpose of looking after their little claims for Government positions. Some of these visitors obtained admission to the Collector's room, but the majority did not. Mr. TERWILLIGER is still absent at Baltimore, where he has been attending an Odd-fellows' Convention.

Blasting operations at Hallett's Point have ceased since last Friday, an injunction granted by Judge PRATT, of Brooklyn, at the instance of STURGER & CO., oil manufacturers, of Astoria, having been served upon their Superintendent, and also upon Gen. NEWTON, the engineer in charge. This firm allege that they have been greatly annoyed, and have suffered immense loss in their business by the carelessness of the miners at the Point. Judge BRACH has the case in charge for STURGER & CO.

The new and beautiful building on the south-east corner of Third-avenue and Eighty-eighth-street, just erected for the East-side Association, and now nearly completed, at a cost of about $100,000, is to be taken down again. It was built in a very massive manner of brick, with granite trimmings, but the foundation now proves insufficient to sustain the superstructure, and it has been condemned.

The thirteenth anniversary of the Fulton-street Prayer-meeting will take place at the North Dutch Church, corner of Fulton and William streets, today, at noon. The occasion promises to be full of interest, and doubtless an overflowing congregation will take part in the exercises.

The Mayor has designated the election districts for the next election to be held in this City, but up to the present time the Common Council have failed to designate the polling places and places of registration. Under the new Election law, these places must be selected before the 1st of October next.

The Department of Public Parks announce that if the weather be fine there will be music by the Central Park Band at the Battery today, from 4½ to 6½ o'clock P. M.

The bark Angelica, which arrived here yesterday from Demerara, experienced heavy gales, in one of which her entire canvas was blown away and other injuries inflicted on her. Almost every vessel arriving here brings intelligence of the disastrous results of the late gales.

Early yesterday morning, a section of Pier No. 44, East River, gave way in consequence of a large number of boxes of tin, belonging to Messrs. PHELPS, DODGE & CO., of Cliff-street, being piled on it. About 100 boxes of the tin were precipitated into the river.

Yesterday morning HENRY BROWNING, a cripple, and his wife ELIZABETH, quarreled in their apartment in the tenement No. 366 Water-street, and BROWNING struck the woman several times on the head with the crutch, causing serious wounds. The woman was taken to Bellevue Hospital. The assailant was arrested and locked up to await the result of his wife's injuries.

The case of HENRY BALCOM, produced before the United States District Court on a writ of habeas corpus, to discharge him from the navy on the ground that he was intoxicated when he enlisted, was dismissed by Judge BLATCHFORD yesterday, the counsel for the prisoner not having produced the papers in the case.

The testimony in the case of Marshal SHARPE, who is sued for $867 by JOHN DONERTY, was submitted to Judge BLATCHFORD yesterday. It was alleged that the case had been compromised.

A match to come off on the 3d of October has been made between the sloop Comet, of the Oceanic Club, of Jersey City, and the Julia, owned by Mr. VAN HORN, for a prize of $200.

The annual fall regatta of the Atlantic Yacht Club has been changed from the 28th to the 27th, in consequence of the race for the Ashbury Cups taking place on the 28th.

THOMAS HUGHES and his wife MARY, of No. 28 Leonard-street, quarreled, yesterday, at No. 224 Greenwich-street, with each other, while visiting, when the husband stabbed MARY with a shoe-knife, causing a slight wound.

The body of an infant, wrapped in a newspaper, was found last evening in Rutherford-place, and removed to the Morgue.

BROOKLYN.

The body of the man who was drowned on Wednesday in Gowanus Canal was found, yesterday, and identified by his daughter, who stated that his name was JOHN MERRIAM, fifty-five years of age, residing in Wolcott, near Nevins-street. Coroner JONES held an inquest, and the jury, after much deliberation, found that the man was drowned, but whether accidentally or otherwise, they could not determine.

The pickpockets have of late been doing a thriving business around the ferry depots in the Eastern District. Yesterday, one named CAROLINE BRODAK was held, in default of $1,000 bail, by Justice VOORHEES, to await the action of the Grand Jury, for abstracting a book, containing $60, from the pocket of Mrs. FRANCIS GRASS, while on her way across the Grand-street Ferry. Another worthy, named DEMPSEY, hailing from Mulberry-street, was also held for the Grand Jury, for attempting to steal a gold watch and chain from Mr. PETER A. LINN.

Franklin-avenue is to be extended from Prospect Park to Fort Hamilton, through the town of New-Utrecht. It will, when finished, be thirty miles long, from ninety to one hundred feet in width; and should the present plan be fully carried out it will be beyond dispute the finest drive in this section of the country.

Colored Evening School No. 1, at the corner of Willoughby and Raymond streets, although only opened on Monday last, has already an attendance of eighty pupils, which number will, in all probability, be increased to over 100 before the end of this week. Mr. CHARLES DOBERY is Principal.

Several boys, at the head of whom was one named HENRY LEWIS, were arrested, yesterday, for pelting with stones a Chinaman named AH SIN, who makes an honest living by selling candy at the corner of Fulton and Sands streets. They were taken before Justice WALSH, who held them for examination on Saturday.

JAMES LAWLOR, the man who broke the arm of a boy named JOHN WALL, with a bar of iron, at No. 109 Hudson-avenue, on the 20th of August last, was yesterday committed by Justice WALSH to await the action of the Grand Jury.

LONG ISLAND.

Yesterday morning Officer SNEDEKER, of Jamaica, arrested a citizen of Hempstead, named WILLIAM F. OLIVER, on a charge of forgery, the complainant being his brother. It is alleged in the complaint that the accused forged his deceased father's name to a lease of the Eagle Mills and the farm adjoining for five years at a rental of $600 per year. The lease bears date Feb. 1. The father of the parties died in August, and the lease was recorded Sept. 2. Its existence was never known till the complainant administered on the estate before the Surrogate. It is not acknowledged by the deceased, but by the wife of the accused. The matter is to be tried before Justice SCRANTER tomorrow. It involves no less a sum than $10,000. District-Attorney DOWNING will prosecute.

The Board of Equalization appointed by the last Legislature have increased the assessed valuation of the real estate of Queens County from $19,274,289 to $19,792,196—an increase of $517,745—and on personal property from $6,760,450 to $24,561,555—an increase of $17,792,105.

STATEN ISLAND.

Mrs. WM. VAN NAMEE, of Northfield, while out driving with her little daughter yesterday, was violently thrown from her carriage near Mariner's Harbor, the horses having taken fright. Mrs. VAN NAMEE was badly bruised about the body, but her daughter escaped unhurt.

The bazaar which has just closed at New-Brighton has been the most successful one of the season, and has been the means of adding materially to the funds of the Church of the Ascension. On the closing night Col. PELL, of the G. A. R., did the duty of amateur auctioneer to the satisfaction of all parties. The ladies were indefatigable in their efforts to make the affair successful.

The following gentlemen are the incorporators of the proposed Staten Island and Hinchinbrook Ferry, to run between Bowman's Point, on the north-west end of the island, and Rhinebeth City, N. A New-Yorker named MICHAEL FANELL was before Judge GARNETT yesterday, charged with stealing $180 worth of goods from the residence of JACOB MAYER, in New-York-avenue. He was committed in default of $1,000 bail.

NEW-JERSEY.

Early yesterday morning the steam propeller Pioneer, of the Stephens & Conduct line, sunk at the Commercial Wharf, in Newark, carrying down a small cargo of merchandise. Yesterday afternoon workmen were engaged in removing the cargo, preparatory to making an attempt to raise the vessel. The damage to cargo and vessel will probably be $6,000 or $7,000. It is supposed that her bottom was damaged by coming in contact with some of the piles that are thrown into the Bay at the Central Railroad Bridge.

NAPOLEON LONG, a young man who had recently entered into the service of the New-Jersey Railroad Company, was crushed between the bumpers of two cars, yesterday, and was instantly killed. He had never coupled cars, and was making his first experiment. He was caught between the cars, and his ribs were forced into the heart, causing a torrent of blood to burst from his mouth and ears.

A fortnight ago a New-York paper made a sensation of the stabbing of seven men in a place in Orange, N. J., and the death of two of the number. The only person who was at all injured on that occasion is now at work as his usual occupation, and his assailant is out on $500 bail to answer a charge of assault.

Coroner BURNS, yesterday, held an inquest on the body of PETER LIVERY, who was killed on Wednesday night by the explosion of a bombshell and the bursting of the cupola of CAREY's iron foundry at the foot of Sussex-street, Jersey City. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, caused by the bursting of a bomb thrown into the cupola by deceased, contrary to the orders of the proprietor, Mr. CAREY having ordered deceased to bury them or throw them into the river.

A meeting was held at Turners' Hall, last night, by the Fourth Ward Republicans of Jersey City, for the purpose of ratifying Mr. HALSEY's nomination. A series of resolutions was passed, and speeches were made by JONATHAN DIXON, B. W. THROCKMORTON and others.

The case of MCGREGOR vs. The Erie Railway Company was continued yesterday in the Passaic County Court, Judge BEDLE presiding. The examination of Mr. BASLEY, the Station Agent, which was commenced before the adjournment on Monday, was continued.

GEORGE ENGLEHARDT fell from the stairway of the old Press office, in Paterson, on Wednesday evening, and was impaled on the sharp points of an iron fence below. His wounds are two in number, one about six inches deep in the thigh, and another on the head. His recovery is doubtful.
